DEDICATION MR. FISHER

We the class of 1981 would like to dedicate our yearbook to a teacher who has been of special significance to us. Mr. Fisher's relationship with the senior class is not condescending but rather that of a friend to whom you can bring problems. For this closeness we would like to show our appreciation and for all that you have done for us, we wish you continued success and prosperity. Again, thanks.

Verba Magistri: Ave Mr. Jenney
by Mark Monoco '83

A teacher who's worthy of mention
Has mastered the art of declension.

For years he's bravely inculcated
Belmont Hillies with verbs conjugated.

He taught us, form I boys, so tender
The difference between tense and gender.
Direct object, or genitive of possession —
Syntax, his wildest obsession.

Mr. Jenney we know,

Class History

Six years ago, in September 1975, forty-one terrified young men came to Belmont Hill as seventh grade "Squeakers." Today, only twenty-seven of that original group are enrolled in the graduating class; but everyone who experienced that first year — from Ades to Zinman — still remembers that year.

The fall brought many things to our class. Although the Red Sox won the pennant, the team to watch was the mighty Belmont Hill intermediate football team. The lineup was highlighted by center Dave Kaplan, defensive end Dan Winkler, and linebacker Chris Hartnett. Coach Gallagher commanded this fearsome unit to a 0-6-1 record, with the tie for a Rivers game full of short yardage passes, to which Bill Cleary will attest. The fourth soccer team, led by the class of '81, went on to a near-undefeated season.

The main event of the fall, however, was the first-and-last-ever trip to Camp Chewonki. Who will ever forget going across a forty-foot gulch? Or Paul Ades' "Flying Walenda" from atop the barn and Adam Krims' catatonic state in the same place? It was Chewonki where Fred Maher gave us a glimpse of what he was really like, as witnessed by Jim Salzman and the rest in his tent.

In the classroom, the teachers had more to worry about. The math classes were led by the two "Wild Bills" — Mr. Croke and Mr. Clift. For some strange reason, Mr. Croke had great difficulty finding chalk, whereas Mr. Clift had trouble finding the true meaning of black holes and geodesic domes. "Uncle Dick" McCracken was driven to an early sabbatical by Bruce Riley & Co., and Dan Hunt had trouble walking around his desk without tripping over the wastepaper basket; but without a doubt, it was Mr. Gregg who provided most of the humor. After Chef Beck's chocolate pudding, Mr. Gregg (more affectionately known by another name) ran his hands through his white/yellow hair as he always used to do. This time, the pudding on his middle finger left a nice brown mark atop his bald head; and the mark was there the next day, for all to see. Mr. Gregg also provided us with a different interpretation of a Doug Bothwell drawing in the famed geography course. Ms. Barquet had difficulty handling an unruly seventh period study hall, and Mr. Morton could never understand why Phil Silverman kept asking to borrow his comb. The only teacher who had firm control was Mr. Gallagher, who ruled with an iron fist in English, Latin, and in the first form study hall. Mr. Gallagher made most of us deliver speeches to the class, the most interesting talk of which was Fred Matera's story about six feet of snow in Canada. One excellent example of the fear instilled by

Mr. Gallagher can be seen in his sudden shout of, "Healey! You breathin'?" and the quick reply of, "No sir. I'm just gettin a book."

On the last day of school, the Sweati Hogi rebelled and came to class in total defiance of all rules; but the class was a good class, and all in all, we accepted rules.

The class of '81 returned to the Hill the following year with renewed confidence to tackle English II, Algebra, Greek and Roman History, I.P.S. and Latin. Now advanced from being "Squeakers," we occupied the spacious Howe Study Hall — along, of course, with the leaders and enforcers of the Middle School, the Third Formers.

There were some real highlights in the Second Form year: Paul Ades' stag party, the (continual) Winchester-Newton debates and the excursion to opening day at Fenway Park.

For the first class party, Paul Ades, a resident of Winchester, offered his house. Most of the class arrived by eight o'clock, equipped with numerous albums to play on Paul's stereo plus one six-pack to split twelve ways. It was a great party except for one minor problem: none of the girls who were invited came — without even so much as a phone call. To pass the time, we made prank phone calls, played basketball in the dark and had target practice in the front yard. All things considered, we had a really good time: ate some pizza, played some music and strengthened our friendships.

The famed Winchester-Newton debates began in our Second Form year. Leading the Winchester team was Paul Ades, supported by such other loyal residents as Chris Harnett and Preston Curtis. For the Newton delegation, Phil Silverman was the most vociferous, with Bill Cleary and Steve Healey adding tidbits. Paul Ades boasted that Winchester was the entertainment capital of the world; and he also felt Rosa's subs were the best. However, there really is no contest, because Newton far surpasses Winchester in size and quality. For every sub shop in Winchester, there are three restaurants in Newton; and we disallow Fred Matera's claim that Medford is best, because it has Tony Lucci's and the Clambox.

In the Spring, class president Cleary organized a class trip to Fenway Park on opening day. The Red Sox lost that game, but we enjoyed the trip nevertheless. The Fenway Franks that we consumed gave us enough gas to get home from the ball park.

The Second Form year was fun. The history classes with Mr. Hudson, the milk and cookie fights and the Howe Study Hall rumbles typi-

Again, this was the building year for the class of '81 as students could feel at home, being the leaders of the Middle School. It was the chance to become accustomed to Belmont Hill and prepare the next three years which would be the most important at Belmont Hill.

Other class functions were highlighted by a Spring party held at David Kaplan's house. This was the first slug-fest in which all the present seniors took place. It was the stepping stone into the Upper School, and it "trained" the Freshmen for what would happen in the Upper School. Other events included massive brawls in the Howe Study Hall doorway.

All in all, this was a building year for the current senior class. From that '77-'78 year, the class has only become more awesome and has done well for the school and the students themselves.

The Fourth Form year was our step up into the privileged domain of the Upper School. We could choose from a greater variety of courses, try out for varsity sports, and didn't have to sign in and out everywhere we went, under the fied this year. In the Spring we elected Chris Hartnett our Third Form class president.

It was a mid September day in 1977 when the Freshman class of '81 saw many new faces both on the fields and in the classrooms. About twenty new students entered the class and formed the basis of this years graduating class as many involved themselves with school activities. No longer would this class change significantly in numbers. From this point on, the class changed significantly as cliques started to form, and it remains almost untouched to this day.

The Freshman class was headed by president Chris Hartnett and vice-president Tom Mannix. Together, these two leaders organized class events ranging from bake sales to Middle School dances. In March we went on a ski trip which brought many of the students together. Other events included dressing green for St. Patrick's Day and dressing red for Valentine's Day.

This was the most important year as far as development, as we obtained "the missing pieces" and fortified our strength in academics and athletics which were open for improvements. School lunches and meetings soon took the new Belmont Hill students to school as Mr. Gallagher introduced his famous, intimidating, "two-left-footed", intramural fall tennis player. From then on, Belmont Hill's young pups represented the school with pride and enthusiasm.

hawk-like surveillance of Mr. Gallagher. We came back dreading what bio A had to offer, and hoping that luck would prevail and Mr. Melcher's English IV sections could be avoided.

An unlucky few had their first varsity experiences in the form of Coach Gallagher's triple sessions, which boasted such activities as: "agility stations", "meet and beat", "seven-up", "Butcus", and "three on three". It was during this early part of the year that the first of our classmates distinguished themselves on the athletic field. Josh Moulton, Kenny Bielski, Kirk Fernald, Phil Silverman, and Tom Mannix, made the varsity soccer team, while Rico Corsetti, Paul Carroll, Brad Johnson, Scott Fusco, and Mark Buckley made varsity football. Unfortunately, the football experience of that year (1-4-2) was not quite as good as the soccer one (10-2-1). That winter, Fusco, Carroll, Moulton, and Fred Matera in hockey, and Silverman, Neil Collins, Mark Parisi, and Scott Gieselman in basketball, became the form's varsity athletic reps. Tim Amory and Dave Anderson starred on the wrestling mats. In the Spring, we were not to be denied varsity positions either. Fifteen class members distinguished themselves on four varsity teams. Athletically, we were a class to be reckoned with in the future.

Several new forces appeared, named Steve Barton, Kris Kolligian, Andy Card, George Salaun, Mark Parisi, Dave Anderson, and Phil Sullivan. Soon they would be known as "Sly", "Disco", "A.C.", "Wildman", "Biggie", "Lennie", and "Sully" respectively.

Class president Tom Mannix, was elected by "coup d'etat" over Chris Hartnett, and vice president, Dave Kaplan, organized the charity and social events for the class. Casino Night in our tuxedos was a major success, and so was Justin Kemond's after-party, which we were not invited to. A neighborhood antenna collection, a little champagne, and the ride home in Kris Kolligian's Caddy were the most memorable events of the evening. Kenny Bielski's car was the major casualty of the evening. It was at Fitz's football party where several members of our class first experienced a close-up view of the sidewalk. Most memorable was the great pleasure derived when Howard Johnsons allowed forty people to stay in one room. Others found it more to their liking to snooze under tables in the hallway, however. We were soon to be called the "slugs" class.

There was the infamous Winsor party in Winchester, where future relations with our sister class were devastated. One member of our class throwing another through a wall had something to do with that. The rest of our weekends were spent at numerous parties; usually at Kappy's place.

Other memorable events were as follows: the rise and fall of the V<sup>2</sup>s was significant, but too much depth into the nature of this "social club" is unnecessary. Rico's great friendship with Birkett which culminated in the elimination of several panes of glass was also a highlight. The antics of the House Committee at the Spring Musical shall go unmentioned due to the sensitive subject matter of the situation.

In September of 1979 our Fifth Form class began with three new additions to the class, Tom Derry, Warren Fields, and Phil Minervino. They were all destined to contribute socially, academically, and athletically.

Scott Puopolo, Paul Carroll Mark Buckley, and Paul Stanton were the officers chosen to run the class. With the help of the class, events were planned throughout the year. We will all remember the parties, the dances, movie night, the ski trip, and the Prom.

The Prom . . . What a night! The evening started at Tom Mannix's house. We then went to Brae Burn Country Club, where we ate dinner and were entertained by Adam Krims' band. The evening ended with a large party at Michael Vrotsos' house. Who will ever forget the tuxedos, the filet mignon, or the great times?

Academically, as usual, the class performed superbly. We were on our way to becoming the strongest class in recent years. Everyone worked hard to achieve, as college permeated each student's mind.

Someone once said (the name now escapes me), "If you're not willing to give yourself to Belmont Hill,

'Go to Nobles!' " Well, we were all willing, and our success in athletics showed. We made up large parts of all varsity and junior varsity teams.

In extracurricular activities we were extremely involved. We were a class full of journalists, diplomats, lawyers, and thespians. Our presence was felt in the various clubs in school as well as our individual interests outside of school.

All in all, a better year could not have been asked for. We found ourselves with a formidable headmaster in Mr. Wadsworth, we were leaders around the school, and a strong sense of camaraderie was developed.

As we, the class of '81, entered our senior year, there was a certain electricity felt throughout the campus. We are now seniors with all the responsibilities and freedoms that the title implies. There was no longer anyone else to look to for leadership, for we are the leaders of Belmont Hill and as the year unfolded, we took charge.

The fall started with Mr. Wadsworth's second year as headmaster and people wondered what the year would hold. The accomplishments of the fall were outstanding as two out of three sports captured titles. The soccer team under the spirited guidance of captain Ken Bielski soared to the Eastern Massachusetts State Finals, a feat never before accomplished. This unique team put five players on the all-league squad which was an indication of the true talent those players possess. The football team with co-captains Carroll and Stanton were returning from two dismal seasons.

The motto of the team was "together to the top" and this was certainly true. Including the two pre-season scrimmages, the team was 9-0-0 and ended the season co-champions of the league. In Mr. Dewar's second year, things were more established and the team fulfilled its true potential. This squad put an amazing 10 players to the all-league team with many more gaining honorable mention citations. The cross country team had a disappointing season but some bright spots glimmered through. The individual contributions of certain members were outstanding but injury and sickness plagued them throughout.

However, there was a closeness and a renewed school spirit that told people that the class of '81 were winners.

"Applications" is a word we associate with hell as members of this class churned out on the average of seven applications each. Mr. Duncan made numerous speeches and hammered into our heads that good grades are all important in this our senior year. Many had already succumbed to the contagious senior slump bug which together with the salmonella infection was running rampant.

The winter season would have a difficult act to follow but people again sensed success. The hockey team, the basketball team, and the ski team all captured league titles. This was outstanding considering that the wrestling team and the squash team grabbed startling individual success.

Captain Fusco powered a strong team to another league title but once again could not find success in the post-season tournament. Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors from this squad would capture all-league success along with another Lawrenceville title.

Co-captains Phil Silverman and Scott Gieselman led the basketball team to a second southern-division co-championship. The squad began the year at 10-0-0 until they slumped in mid-February.

The winter season showed a true party potential of the class of '81 for after a slow start (due to athletics) in the fall the senior picked up the keg and ran with it. The 'sluggo' honor was doled out only to those making fools out of themselves in some way at parties. The animal house syndrome was wide-spread as many members of our class showed their potential by gathering and smashing bottles over their heads or chugging.

President Phil Silverman continued his outstanding career as the leader of the school using his imagination and his personality to create new and different activities. President Silverman ended the extremely successful charity drive with the charity show (directed by Paul Carroll and Kurt Raffi) which, with the exception of the party at Matt Millers house was the greatest display of creative talent this year.

It might be nice to mention Windsor co-ordination, which was about all that we wanted to do.

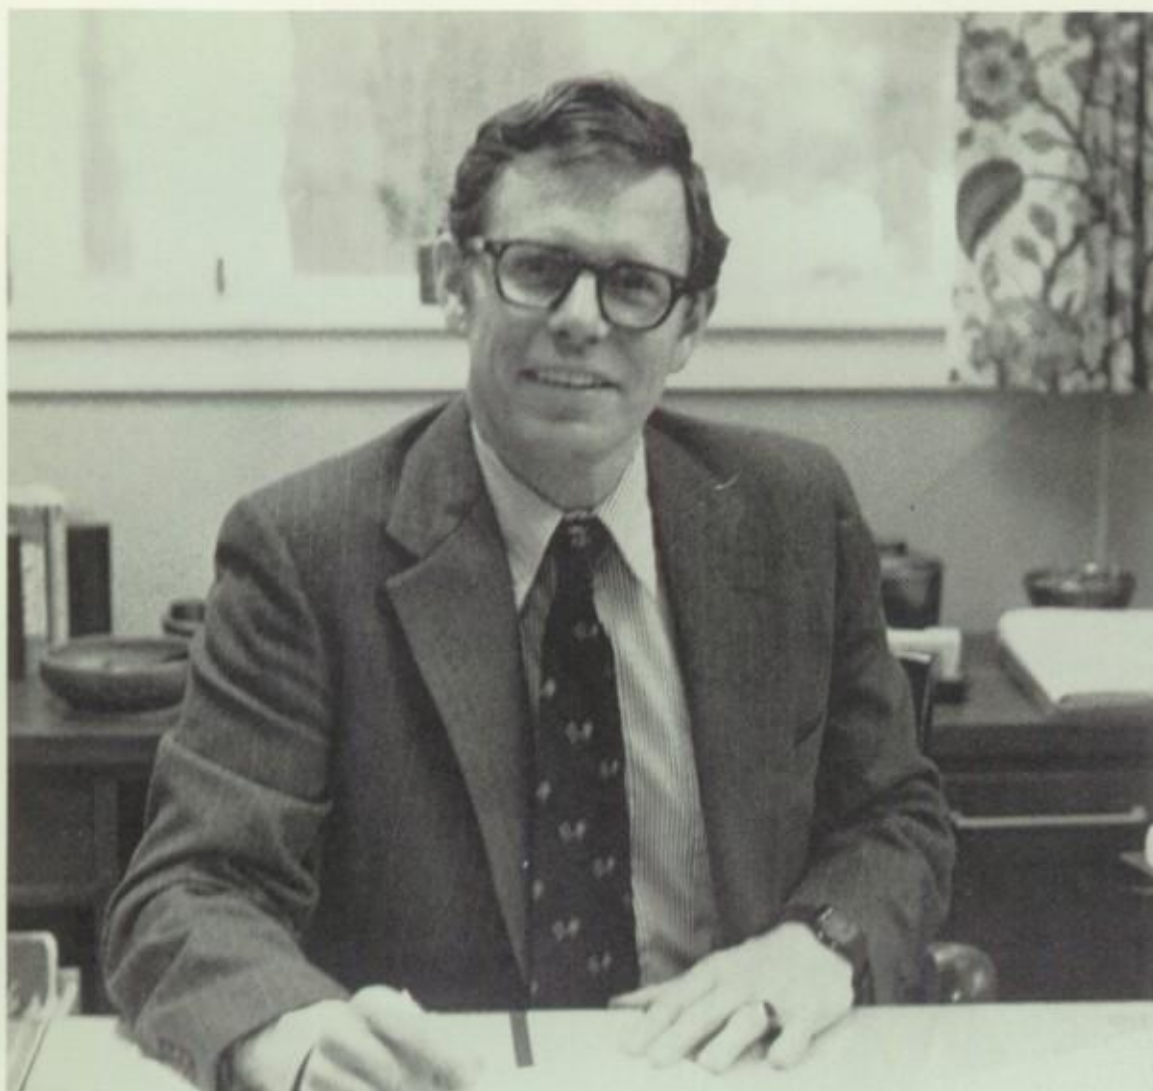

We, as the class of '81, once again established the winning tradition at Belmont Hill. We are a unique class with great talent in many different areas. We have made our mark on Belmont Hill and the Hill has made it's mark on us.

We need the tonic of wildness, to wade sometimes in marshes where the bittern and the meadow-hen lurk, and hear the booming of the snipe . . . At the same time that we are earnest to explore and learn all things, we require that all things be mysterious and unexplorable, that land and sea be infinitely wild, unsurveyed and unfathomed by us because unfathomable. We can never have enough of nature . . . We need to witness our own limits transgressed, and some life pasturing freely where we never wander. — THOREAU

Long, long ago beyond the misty space
 Of twice a thousand years,
 In Erin old there dwelt a mighty race,
 Taller than Roman spears;
 Like oaks and towers they had a giant grace,
 Were fleet as deers
 With winds and waves they made their 'biding place,
 These western shepherd seers.

Their ocean-god was Mannanan Mac Lir,
 Whose angry lips,
 In their white foam, full often would inter
 Whole fleets of ships;
 Crom was their day-god, and their thunderer,
 Made morning and eclipse;
 Bride was their queen of song, and unto her
 They prayed with fire-touched lips.

Great were their deeds, their passions, and their sports;
 With clay and stone
 They piled on strath and shore those mystic forts,
 Not yet o'erthrown;
 On cairn-crownd hills they held their council-courts;
 While youths alone,
 With giant dogs, explored the elk's resorts,
 And brought them down . . . . .

Glee Club

Starting early in the school year, over 50 students met two times a week with Mr. Getz in preparation for the first concert.

Fighting labs, extra help, and college visits for rights to 7th period, the group worked hard to prepare a concert for the annual Parents dinner.

At the Parents dinner, the first musical performance for many, Mr. Getz led the group through a program of spirituals, folk songs and standard favorites. The parents heard not only a fine performance by the Glee Club, but also the reincarnation of the B flats, a small group of Glee Club members.

The first major performance was the Christmas Concert, held after the first real snow storm on a cold December evening in Hamilton Chapel with the Winsor School Chorus. Along with traditional Christmas Carols, the group performed modern and renaissance pieces, combining with selections from Handels "Messiah." Accompanied by a fine group of strings (and Ms. Taylor on tambourine) the concert showed the increasing musicality of both the Glee Club and the B Flats.

For the first Spring concert, Belmont Hill was joined by a fine group from Dana Hall in a concert concluding with the "Kyrie" from Schuberts Mass in 6. The concert also included performances by both glee clubs, the Dana Hall Small Chorus, and the B Flats.

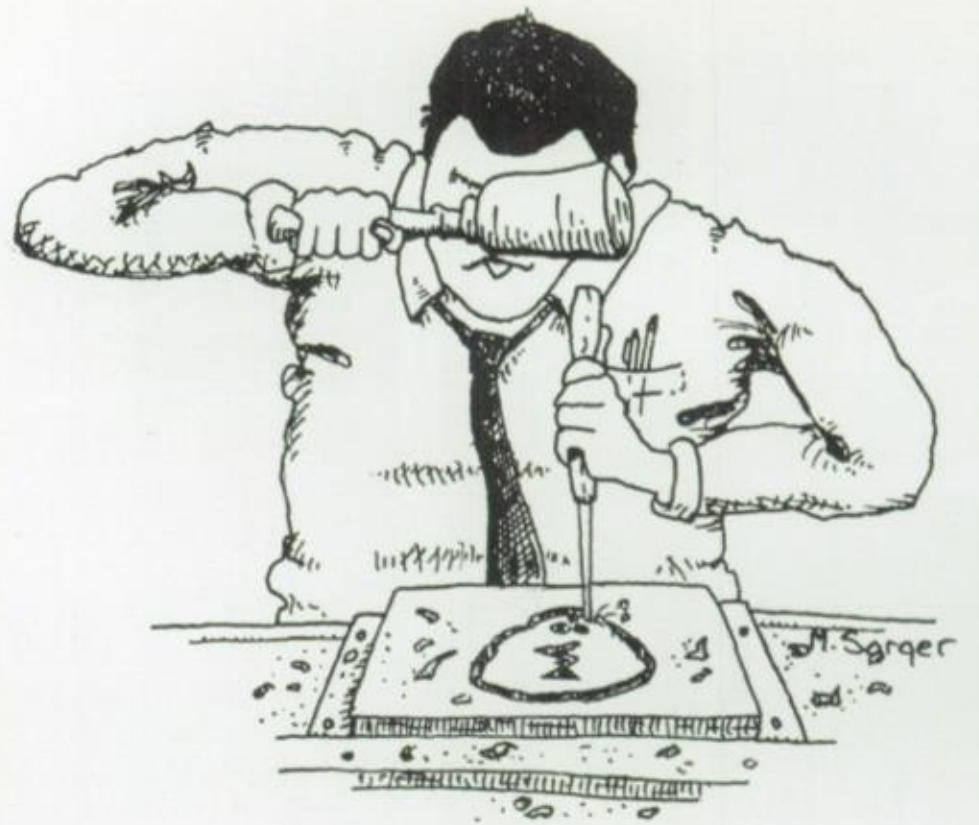

In the second Spring Concert Belmont Hill joined choruses from BB&N and Dana Hall for a collaboration at BB&N. Each group first sang seperately, and Belmont

Hill's performance was highlighted by a revelation of the secrets of B flat member Ralph Cahaly's love life in a string rendition of "Real Live Girl". The concert was concluded with a performance of Schebert's "Messiah" by BB&N and Belmont Hill groups. This simple major work was truly the highlight of the Glee Club's year.

Thanks must be given to president John Aliopoulos as well as vice president Bill Clery for their work in making the Glee Club work in a difficult transitional year. Thanks must also be given to Adam Krimes and Richard Shore, accompanists for the group. Special thanks also to Mr. Getz, who did a fine job replacing a corner stone of the Belmont Hill Community, and kept musical performance a popular activity.

Under the iron leadership of co-presidents Scott Puopolo and Jimmy Salzman the debating team had one of its most successful seasons in recent years. With many returning members, including next year's president Luke Yeransian, next season promises to be just as successful.

We opened the year at the Roxbury Latin tournament and although we won no awards, the team exhibited its fine skills. Novices Louis Hampers and Ralph Cahaly turned in a fine performance while Mark Terry found himself a Winsorite for the day. However, to his credit, he availed himself and did a fine job.

We next travelled to Andover where Luke Yeransian and Paul Kjellberg came within a hair's breadth of winning the tournament while Jim Slazman missed Best Speaker by a point. This tournament was extremely important because it showed the other schools in the league that BHS was not a sleeping giant.

Indeed, when the Exeter tournament rolled around, Belmont Hill struck. In the advanced division Jon Hass and Jimmy Salzman tied for best advanced negative team while Luke Yeransian and Scott Puopolo tied for best advanced affirmative team, Jim also raked in another Best Speaker Award while the novices did well and BHS tied with St. Paul's for first place in the tournament but fell victim to "team points."

With Exeter secured under our belts, the Belmont Hill School Debate was the next tournament to be conquered. Scott and Jim diligently prepared the team while also frantically preparing the debate cuisine. Although the team did not do as well as expected the advanced team of Mark Terry and Adam Krims performed superbly as Adam garnered the Best Speaker Award. In Novice, both Richard Shore and Dan Green were in the top ten speakers and the team of Rich Shore and Louis Hampers went undefeated.

The final Debate of the year was extemporaneous at Deerfield. Although this wasn't the team's best showing, we ended up in Third Place with Jim Salzman ending his career with Best Speaker and Paul Kjellberg winning the coveted "Deerie Award," a monstrosity given to the debater who speaks with the most style, grace, humor, and wit, i.e. the typical laid-back BHS verbal assassin. It was a strong finish to a great season.

The 1980-81 season proved the potential of a lyceum co-presidency and established BHS debating once again as the team that gets in the last word and the last laugh.

The Model United Nations Club enjoyed an extremely successful year, attending the Harvard and Yale Model U.N.'s, and aborting the planned New York Model U.N. At Harvard, the 28 man club represented Russia and UAE in the ECO-SOC. The club turned in an exceptional performance and Best Delegate Awards were won by Head Delegate Jim Salzman, Tom Kenneally, Mark Terry, David Reister, Paul Kjellberg, Joey Driscoll, Rob Ricciardelli, and Mike Annino. This truly outstanding performance gave Belmont Hill a Best Delegation Award, given to five schools out of the 130 attending. The M.U.N. Club proved itself equally capable in the social aspect of the U.N. and by the end of the U.N., Belmont Hill was viewed by both delegates and security as a multifaceted institution. Fun was had by all.

The U.N. Club's Delegation to Yale was a smaller, select group of delegates. The club, as has come to be expected, won its share of awards with David Long, Paul Kjellberg, Rob Ricciardelli, and Tom Kenneally winning Best Delegate Awards. Mark Terry brought special distinction to the club as he won the Don Rickles Award for Belittlement. Two members of the club were caught drinking at Yale and the administration, in retaliation, asked that all delegates who had drunk any alcohol at the previous U.N.'s to resign from the New York Model U.N. Delegation.

Realizing that the administration, might cause discord and perjury and would definitely result in the cancellation of the N.Y.U.N., Scott Puopolo and Jim Salzman cancelled the entire expedition. Thus, the Model U.N. Club only attended two Model U.N.'s this year causing, ironically, the secretary treasurer, Scott Puopolo to not attend a U.N. all year. One of the most successful extracurricular organizations at Belmont Hill, the 1980-81 Model U.N. Club, performed remarkably well. Credit for this success goes to many talented club members who through their efforts have established the B.H.S Model U.N. Club as a top notch group of speakers, debators, and socialites. Thanks also goes to Mr. MacDonald, the faculty chaperone, and the triumphate of Salzman, Puopolo, and Terry.

Korl pulled the reins of his mule and duly, it complied by following his lead. Through the rocky pass the two walked. The mule, heavily laden with provisions plodded after the broad-shouldered man.

Soon, perhaps by nightfall they would reach the lowlands. Korl, son of the lawmaker of the Ortuck tribe, smiled in anticipation.

"It is good to see you on your mule. 'They were with me.' The mule's condition is good, however. It filled his lungs with the mule onward.

When he had left his tribe, he took his mule, a week's provisions, a few coils of rope, a flash or two of oil, his flint and steel, and of course, his heavy furs. These, he reasoned, should last at least until he had left the mountain's influence. The item which he smuggled out was his weapon, a large two-handed battle axe. Encrusted with rubies and engraved with powerful runes, the family heirloom had been prematurely taken. Weapons were, for Korl's people, a commonplace utensil, yet great pride was drawn from those which denoted a higher tribal standing. Korl fingered his dagger. He hoped they would not send out a party because he would have to protect his possession. He mind clouded as soon as he lay down.

He pulled his furs closely about him. Shortly thereafter he fell asleep.

The night passed quietly. The stars winked and the clouds. The cool mountain air was and the temperature was only mildly. Ortuck's god would soon arise. The rays of the sun. Fingers of light crept over with they traveled. The nocturnal from whence the night animals started their cycle.

SECOND ROW: A. Marcotte, J. Manson, M. Brown, T. Derry (co-captain), P. Minervino (co-captain), C. Cheney, F. Muggia, K. Delaney, J. Umlas. BACK ROW: Coach H. Melcher, W. Willer, D. Maloney, S. Murray, C. Cogswell, J. Heanly, C. Lyons, G. Harper, L. Lien, Coach C. Thomas.

If not for the bad luck, the Belmont Hill Cross Country team would have had a season like the one that they just had. Entering the year favored to win the Independent School League and the New Englands, the Hillies found that like Icarris, ill-fated flight, soaring so high can be deceptively dangerous and they fumbled disappointingly from their lofty perch.

The foundations for the Belmont Hill's preseason optimism was the nucleus of six (out of seven) returning Varsity runners, led by Co-Captain Tom Derry and Phil Minervino. They included defending New England Cross Country and Two-Mile Champion Mike Brown, Juniors Jim Umlas, Frank Muggia and Jay Manson. Promising Senior newcomer Chris Cogswell appeared also to have secured a Varsity position by virtue of his solid preseason performances. The team had reported to the preseason Captain's practices in excellent shape and the outlook for the season seemed to promise a banner year for the Hillies.

But this is where black lady luck stepped in. Cogswell was the first in the ranks to go, coming down with a nagging calf injury that sidelined him for the entire season. Muggia followed right behind in Cogswell's hobbled

When the Hillies were ready for their first tri-meet of the season with Brooks and Governor Dummer, it appeared as if the team was coming around. But despite the valiant first race of Muggia and the strong showing of Michael Brown, Brooks edged Belmont by a mere point and G.D.A. went away with a one point victory. Thus, not only did the two-season Hillies domination of the league opponents end, but the spirit that had characterized last year's squad and had struggled to preserve itself this year despite these obstacles seemed to break.

Jay Manson and Jim Umlas were the newest victims claimed by the malaise that plagued the team. Both turned in sub-par performances due to hampering injuries and Belmont Hill was crushed by emerging league powerhouse Thayer Academy. The magic of the year before had disappeared and even league pussycat Portsmouth Abbey knocked off the disillusioned Hillies.

In the final contest of the season Belmont Hill salvaged some pride and self-respect by manhandling a weak B.B.&N team. The final season record was 7-4. This record may have been considered fair by other standards, but it was undeniably disappointing to the squad. It was also the last year of Coach Melcher's reign, and although his three-year record of 27-8 probably ranks among the best totals ever amassed by a Belmont Hill coach, the team was disappointed that they couldn't give him the N.E. Championship which he deserved as a going away present. We would like to thank Mr. Melcher for a job well done: Thanks from us all!

footsteps, suffering from shin splints that caused him to miss the first half of the schedule and some crucial training time.

Despite these setbacks, Belmont Hill got off to a good start. They conquered league rivals Milton Academy by a slim 3 point margin and went to vanquish in succession Nobles, St. Marks, Lawrence, Middlesex, and Roxbury Latin. This 6-0 streak extended the Hillies' perfect dual meet record to 24-0 over the last two seasons, and although seldom recognized, they were the winningest team at Belmont Hill during this period.

The team suffered a crippling blow when Co-Captain Minervino was forced to the sidelines after the Nobles race. Minervino came to the Hill in the best shape of his life, putting in many miles each week during the summer, as many as 60. But the effects of training in strength—running in the heat and humidity of the summer took its toll and Minervino broke down. Coaches seldom have to contend with the problem of a high school athlete working too hard, and the team was beginning to wonder if perhaps their dreams were just not in the cards this

J.V. Cross Country

Considering the large number of injuries incurred this season by both the JV and Varsity Cross Country Teams, the JV record is very impressive. Although the team was filled with depth at the beginning, it soon lost players to the Varsity. Therefore, our 7-2 season was not as successful as we would have liked it to have been.

Our first race was a big disappointment. With some of our runners gone and some on the Varsity, the JV team ran against Milton. Although the Varsity won, Milton showed that it had a team with a lot of depth. Unfortunately we lost to them by a close score.

With a more complete team, the Belmont Hill JV Cross Country avenged its previous loss. Up against Nobles, we won 21-38. Alan Marcotte and Kyle Delaney finished fast. After them, Scott Murray, Lyndon Lien, and George Harper battled for their respected places.

After a close race with St. Marks, in which Belmont Hill won 27-30, we raced at Lawrence. There, we raced Roxbury Latin, Lawrence, Groton, and Middlesex. The only team we lost to was Groton. We had a close score of 29-26. Considering that Groton doesn't race Varsity because it is their first year in Cross Country, we did very well. To finish off the season, the J.V. beat both Governor Dummer and BB&N by scores of 20-35 and 25-30, respectively.

At the I.S.L.C.'s, the JV team did a respectable job. With Kyle Delaney running first JV, David Maloney gave his personal best and came in only two places behind.

When a team returns from two losing seasons, one might expect to find uncertainty, apprehension, and perhaps even apathy thriving in the spirits of its players. However, this was far from the case. One sultry morning in early September as the players listened attentively to the optimistic words of head coach Dewar before beginning their notoriously brutal sessions, no attitude of mediocrity was discernible. Instead there existed a tremendous self-confidence and feeling of revenge. No longer was Belmont Hill to be walked upon. The Belmont Hill football dynasty had begun anew!

The 1980 Belmont Hill football team was a team of exceptional talent. Surely no one could doubt the strength of Rico Corsetti, the quickness of Warren Fields, or the finesse of Co-Captain Paul Stanton. However, there were many more questions which had to be effaced. As Brad Johnson began to run over opposition three times his dimensions and as Andy Card quickly adapted to his new position many of these questions were indeed answered: affirmatively.

Undoubtedly, the immense success of this team came from its ability to act as one. Just as the season's motto "Together to the top" implies, each member threw aside his individuality for ten weeks in his sacrifice for a common goal. The goal was the same for the manager, for the players, for the coaches.

In this season's opener, Belmont immediately responded to the quiet leadership of Co-Captains Paul Carroll and Paul Stanton and trounced a well-disciplined Milton squad, 18-0. Seniors Steve Barton, Rico Corsetti and defensive back Mark Buckley led the defense to this impressive shutout. The following week the team relinquished any uncertainty which still may have lingered in the minds of its most loyal fans. On this Saturday, the Hillies snapped the Noble and Greenough sixteen game winning streak. The first half ended favoring Belmont Hill by one point before the Hill exploded in the third quarter to close the door on these former champions. The final score stood Belmont Hill 25 Nobles 21. The next week Belmont was too powerful for a lame St. Marks squad, winning early 33-14. Though Groton, Belmont's next foe, proved a more formidable opponent, Belmont's character persevered to secure a 30-15 victory. In the teams fifth contest the Hill Trowned an inferior group from Buckingham, Browne and Nichols, 22-0. At this point Belmont Hill was simply not to be stopped. After demolishing Middlesex 39-22 in the sixth week of the season, the team journeyed to Governor Dummer. Here the Hillies were tested. The Governors presented a first half surge. However once again the poise of Belmont Hill resolved all doubts. Belmont Hill 36 Governor Dummer 12. The legend lives again!

In a successful season such as this many people need be thanked. Thanks extend to Coaches Barrett, Thompson, Sebag, Civetti, Kimball and most obviously to Head Coach Dewar. Each of these coaches demonstrated tremendous athletic knowledge as well as a true concern for others. The team also wishes to thank manager Robert Kaplan and Mike Rosenberg, and especially Head Student Trainer David M. Kaplan. Hard work was also contributed by trainer Roy Fowler and Team Physician Dr. William Porell. Also to be recognized is the unending assistance and support offered selflessly by Joseph Walker and Frank Foster.

Though space does not permit the team to thank each person in writing, we are strongly grateful to all fans and friends, who, in any way, contributed to the exceptional success of this year's football team.

J.V. Football.

The JV Football Team had a tremendous season once again. The squad, led by talented Seniors and many competent Juniors and Sophomores, had a fine 4-1-1 record.

The team began its season against a weak Milton squad and dominated the whole game. Senior running back Kevin Golden led the offense by scoring two consecutive touchdowns of 30 and 40 yards, and capped the victory for the Hill, 22-0.

The next week, the Hillies were eager to prove themselves again against Nobles. It seemed that the Hillies weren't as ready for this game as they were for Milton. After a sluggish first half Belmont led 12-0. But in the second half Nobles came right back and scored 12 points to tie Belmont, and the game ended in a tie.

At Middlesex, Belmont went into the game with a depressed attitude because of the loss of several key players. But they overcame these feelings when tightened Bill McNamara scored a 45 yard touchdown on a pass from Greg Donovan. Several key plays on defense by Brian Brady and John Aliapoulios kept Middlesex from scoring. Belmont came out victorious, 14-0.

On home turf the next game was against Groton. Groton scored first in the defensive game. But the swift running of Whitney Cunliffe and the catching of John Simourian gave the Hillies three of their four touchdowns. Belmont came out, once again, victorious by the score of 24-6.

Next Belmont traveled to Governor Dummer for what they hoped to be another victory. Belmont Hill was never in full command of the game. Despite excellent defensive plays by Brad Rosse at many positions, and the offensive play of Mark Latti, the Hillies received their first loss, 12-6.

Belmont's final game was against B.B.&N. Belmont defensively thwarted the B.B.&N. offense. Belmont moved the ball up and down the field with a balanced attack of running and passing. The victory was sealed by quarterback Jim Garrity who passed his second touchdown to Bill McNamara.

The team should be proud of their record and all should look forward to next year on the Varsity! Special thanks to the coaches who helped out this year with the successful season. Thanks to Harris Thompson and Gary Barrett, an ex-Belmont Hill player.

Varsity Soccer

The 1980 Varsity Soccer team was one of the best skilled teams in Belmont Hill history. The offense scored 36 regular season goals while allowing only 7 for the opposition. If one can consider two previous consecutive second place finishes building years the 1980 squad was the culmination of these three years. Four of the starting eleven, Captain Ken Bielski, Goalie Phil Silverman, Forward Kirk Fernald, and halfback Josh Moulton, were three year veterans. Other starting Seniors included George Salaun, Bill Budd, Tim Amory, Paul Ades, Kris Kolligian, and Tim Elwell. To say this total of ten of the eleven starters was a solid nucleus would be a vast understatement.

Having taken second place in a summer soccer tournament in addition to the numerous soccer camp attendees and preseason practices, Belmont confidently rolled through three mini-games on the Hill's home turf by identical 3-0 scores. The traditional Belmont High scrimmage was just one more affirmation of the high hopes held by the coaches as the Hillies easily polished off the inferior high school team 4-2.

The opening game was a beacon for the frustration that was to come and last for most of the season. After falling behind for the first time 1-0, the Hill retaliated with two first quarter goals. Milton bounced back with another of it's own tying the game goals. Three quarters and two over time periods later the game was still deadlocked at two and the Hillies had to settle with a tie.

Belmont easily polished off a young Thayer team 5-0 as both the offense and defense showed their true colors. The next game against Nobles was the first in a series of revenge matches. The previous year the second week of the season had destroyed almost all hopes of a playoff berth. Here was where the 1980 squad differed, as it soundly handled a physical Nobles squad 3-0, then awkwardly defeated a mediocre Roxbury Latin squad 3-1 the following Wednesday.

St. Marks stole the hopes Belmont had of an undefeated season by literally slipping past the Hill 1-0 on a controversial penalty shot. Belmont, as in all previous games, controlled the field of play yet the usually potent offense was, as against Milton, stuffed by a good goalie and the metal posts. At this point 1st. place in the South Division which includes a spot in the ISL playoffs seemed to have disappeared while the Gummere Cup chase was still well within reach for the Belmont Booters.

Though Belmont controlled all of the games it could not boast the best record and could theoretically have not made the play-offs. However, this soccer team cashed in on its high potential and ripped off eight straight victories, six of which were shutouts. Ken Bielski and George Salaun provided the goal scoring, backed up expertly by Kirk Fernald, Tim Amory and Josh Moulton who collectively controlled the midfield. The defense, made up of junior Rob Ricciardelli and Paul Ades in the middle flanked by Tim Elwell and Kris Kolligian, was awesomely stingy.

Milton and St. Marks were, during the string of eight wins, self-destructing leaving Belmont at the top of the Hill in both its division and the Gummere Cup. St. Pauls apparently ended the Hillie season handing Belmont its worst loss, 3-1. St. Pauls, however, decided not to go on in post-season play and gave the semifinal ISL spot to Belmont. Belmont once again cashed in with their power by cranking out the best game of the season that a Belmont team had ever played. The 2nd. victory against Cushing Academy proved to be the highlight of the 1980 season as Belmont was unable to capitalize on its many opportunities the next day against a hustling Wilbraham-Monson team. Though Belmont lost two of its final three games this year's team displayed fantastic talent and clear domination at times and it is that which will be remembered.

This year the JV soccer team continued its winning tradition and finished the season with an unbeaten 10-0-2 record. The team, under the very able tutelage of Mr. Bates and Mr. Goodband and the leadership of Captain Martin Sorger, outscored its opponents, 46 to 12.

After the first five minutes of the season opener against Milton, the team was in trouble, down 0-2, but from there Milton was shutout and the Jayvees rolled to a 6-2 victory. The team cruised through its next few games, destroying its weaker opponents. The first tough game was against Groton. After some shaky playing the game was put away with a Dave Walker goal in the fourth quarter.

Hopes for an unbeaten and untied season were crushed as the team, afflicted by an end of the season slump, travelled to Brooks. The Jayvees outplayed the Brooks team the whole game but only managed a 2-2 tie. The scene was repeated the following Saturday at Middlesex.

The team closed out the season with an impressive 6-0 shutout of Rivers and a 2-1 decision over Governor Dummer. The latter game was won by a Colin Blight goal, booted from midfield.

ROW ONE: Okerowski, Geiselman, Silverman, Walker. ROW TWO: Coach Bertelsen, D. Kaplan, Stanton, Derry, Parisi, M. DeAngelis, Finnerty, Garrity, Card, B. Kaplan, Asst. Coach Barr.

Belmont Hill began the 1980-81 season with a new face on the coaching staff. Head coach Bertelsen and assistant coach Dave Barr brought a new style of play to the program. Coach Bertelsen's strategy was to have his squad in better shape than anybody else.

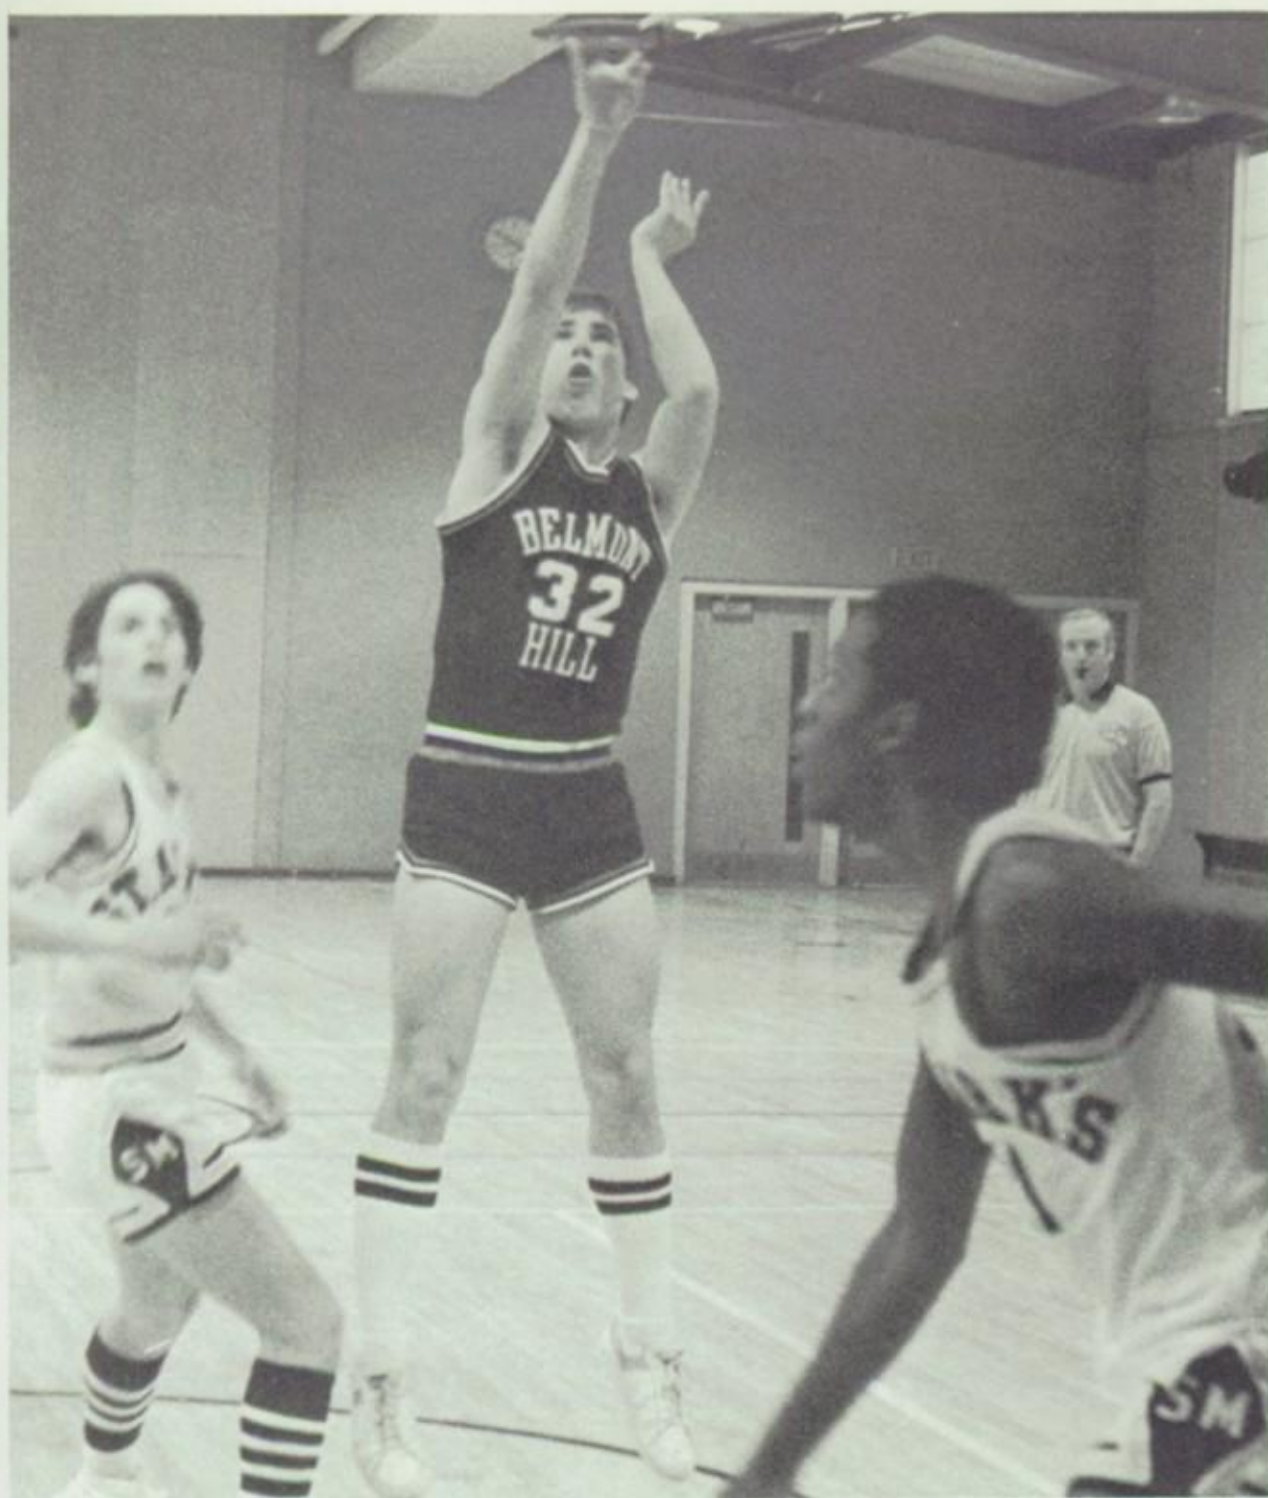

The opening game was marked with confusion as the new offense presented some problems and stopped the teams attack. This loss to Lexington Christian was not a league game. The opening league contest was against Thayer, a long time rival of Belmont Hill. Having lost to Thayer four years in a row, Belmont was ready to play. Down by seventeen at halftime, Coach Bertelsen re-grouped his attack and sparred an incredible second half that showed Belmont on top by five points. This win would be a tremendous confidence builder for the upcoming Rivers Holiday festival.

Belmont finished the third game with a record of 2-1-0 defeating Nobles, BB&N and losing by two to the tournament Champions, Rivers. Belmont played Rivers in the second round in which many described the contest by claiming that the winner of the game would capture the tournament.

Through the long layoff of X-MAS vacation, Coach Bertelsen ran the team almost every day which proved to be beneficial as the Hillies destroyed a touring Andover team by twenty.

However overconfident the team was, Coach Bertelsen described Milton as a team that could potentially beat anyone. The Hillies proved to be too much for Milton, however, and they gunned down their opponents by ten.

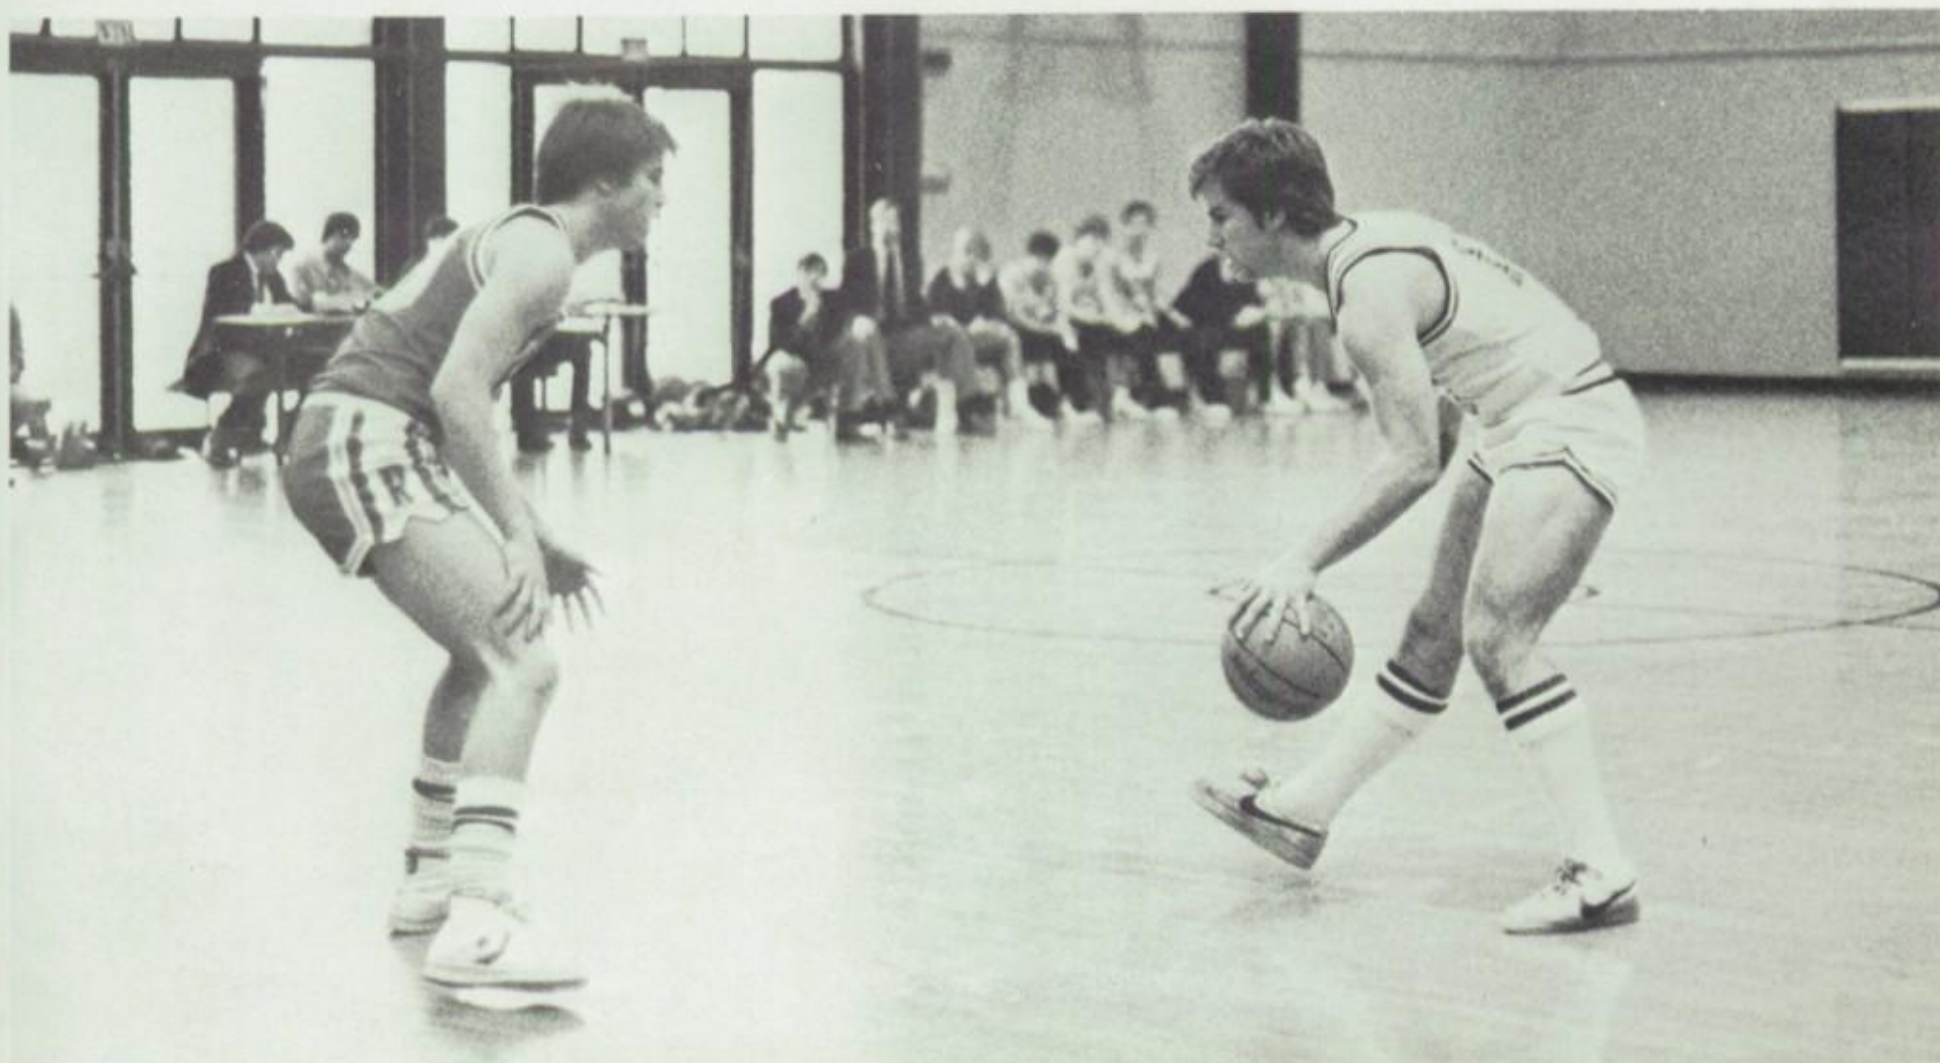

Belmont breezed through their next two games with wins over BB&N and Groton. These were simply preliminary games before the rematch against Rivers.

This was for the lead in the southern division and Belmont came out roaring and dominated the game throughout. The final score showed Belmont on top by only one point but nevertheless a big win.

Following a big win, Belmont faced St. Sebastians, a team who had beaten some excellent teams. This game was also at the end of exam week which had proven to be a disadvantage. This disadvantage however showed Belmont to be the superior team, beating the Arrows handily by twenty.

Roxbury Latin was proving to the entire league that they were players and this contest would decide the winners of the southern division. Belmont was leading by the half in a game dominated by rebounding and shooting. However, the well coached Roxbury team pressed the Hillies into an even ball game with six minutes left to play. The fourth quarter had Belmont outscored 5-23 and they went down in defeat.

Both St. Pauls and Nobles fell victim to the Hillie machine but Belmont was looking past these squads to a very strong Brooks team.

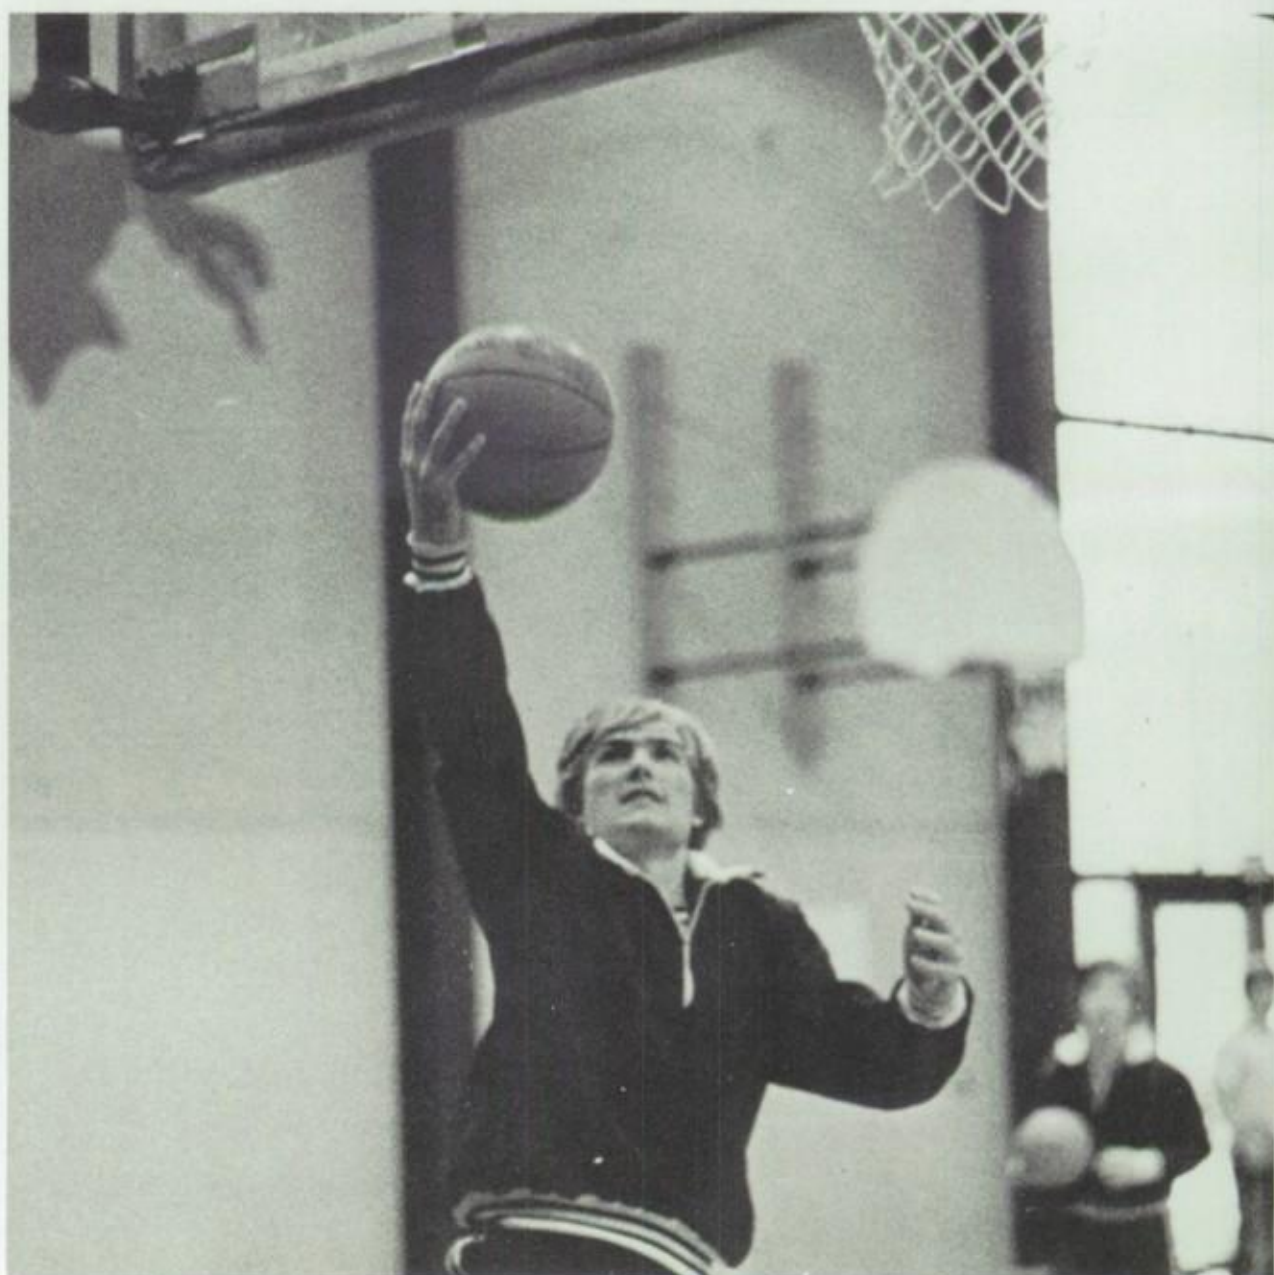

The game began and at halftime showed Belmont down by four. The eventual outcome had Belmont losing to a very much equal team by a deceiving sixteen points.

The following week was a disastrous one for the Belmont team, falling to three teams that they were unquestionable superior to. Middlesex and Lawrence were the two games left in the week and the Hillies surge was quieted as they lost the two games by a total of four points.

Two long away games remained, St. Georges and Governor Dummer. St. Georges came on a Wednesday and the long trip was a definite handicap. The Belmont team led by as many as seventeen with three minutes to go, but a hustling press by St. Georges cut the lead to three.

Governor Dummer was the last regular season game of the 1981 year. G.D.A. was as yet unbeaten, however they were a very vulnerable team for the Hillies to knock off. Belmont came out ready to go and at the half time they were tied. The lead however went to Governor Dummer and at the start of the fourth quarter, Belmont was down by five. Coach Bertelsen remarked after the game that the team played a super game but still hadn't performed up to it's potential. The final score showed Belmont losing by seven in a very close and well played game.

This years team compiled a 10-5 record which tied them for first place in the southern division with R.L. Seven seniors graduate from this team: Captains Phil Silverman and Scott Gieselman, Neal Collins, Mark Parisi, Tom Derry, Paul Stanton, and Andy Card. These losses however great may be offset by returning letterman Mark Finnerty, Mark DeAngelis, Dave Walker, Jim Garrity, and Peter Okerowski.

This year's Junior Varsity basketball team seemed to come out on the short end quite often. The team had lost several games by a margin of five points or less. But in the games the Hillies won their talent was exceptional, and they usually won by a wide margin.

Belmont opened against Lexington Christian Academy. This young Belmont team proved to be too much for Lexington Christian Academy and Belmont won "handily" 40-20. After this big victory Belmont was away against Thayer. Belmont never had control of this "quick" Thayer squad and ultimately lost 47-41. Belmont's next game was home against Buckingham, Browne, and Nichols. Belmont needed a victory here to set the team back on it's feet. Well, the Hillies did win, and by an amazing 35 points. Belmont's fourth game was once again away, against Groton. Belmont Hill led at the half by six points. But due to sloppy play in the fourth quarter Belmont fell behind and was never able to regain the lead. The high point of this trip was an amazing 27 points by captain Bill McNamara and 16 points by return-letterman Phil "iceman" Anderson.

Next Belmont Hill played St. Sebastians. The Hillies only had five players but were able to squeak by with an impressive 45-39 score. With Paul Udris controlling the "boards" and Dave "tiny" Bright scoring from all over the floor, St. Sebastians never had a chance. Belmont now faced an undefeated Roxbury Latin team. The Hillies were 5 and 5 coming into the game, and they were hoping to have a winning record. With great defense by Nick Berents and Jamie Schwartz Belmont led at the half time. But I guess the team wasn't psyched up enough after half time and lost 69-43.

With the addition of sophomore Dan Kraft the squad traveled to Brooks. After being down by 14 at half time the team made a startling comeback, due to new sensation Danny Kraft. With three seconds left Bill McNamara sunk a hoop and won the game for the Hillies 72-70. Against Middlesex Belmont once again rallied back and caught the victory 65-60. Mainly due to aggressive playing by Josh Levy and Tippy Martinez. Belmont's final game was against Governor Dummer. The Hillies record was 7-8 and they wanted to end with a .500 season. Even with Jack Gaziano's and Steven Kaplan's exceptional playing the Hillies couldn't grasp the victory.

The Varsity Hockey team once again had a very impressive year, compiling a 21-3 record en route to a league championship and first place in the prestigious Lawrenceville tournament.

The Hillies started the season with three easy victories. Soon after pre-season try-outs, the team played a hapless Babson J.V. team and easily romped by a score of 9-1. The next two games were both offensive affairs, led by captain Scott Fusco and the Belmont forwards. Bill Cleary tallied twice in the Tabor game to help the team to a 7-2 score, and the following Wednesday the sextet downed a lowly Lawrence team. The fourth game, against an undermanned and physical Exeter squad, proved to be more of a battle, as the two teams were dead locked 1-1 after two periods, but a Belmont barrage burst the game open and the Hillies has their third victory by a score of 5-1.

As the Christmas break approached, coach Ken Martin worked the team hard in preparation for the upcoming Lawrenceville Tournament. After bussing to Princeton and enduring the opening banquet, the team rested for its game with Kent early the next morning. Kent started the scoring early in the first period with a blast off the right post.

Kent went further ahead later in the game on a scramble in front of the net. John DeMichaelis had no chance for either goal, and the Woburn Wonder was nothing short of spectacular in all three games, making numerous saves to give the Hillies the impetus to win the tournament. Ken Bielski lit the lamp twice in the Kent game to even the score at two. But it wasn't until the final three seconds of the game when the Hillies gained the victory. On a feed from Warren Fields, Fred Matera stuffed the puck past the sprawled Kent goalie. The next game against the Hill School was a bit less dramatic. Paul Carroll scored a hat trick to ensure a 6-2 victory and prove that he is a major scoring threat at any time. In the finals of the tournament, the Hillies played their best and Scott Fusco's scoring led to a 5-1 championship victory over Avon Old Farms.

During Christmas vacation, the team had various scrimmages, but the vacation was highlighted by a 8-7 victory over a talented junior team from Pori Finland. The first game of the new year was a non league encounter with St. Marks, who went down to an easy defeat by a score of 9-2. The next game was, from a defensive standpoint, disappointing, as evidenced by a 10-7 score against St. Sebastians. Although it was a victory, the team took heed from their mistakes and proceeded to destroy a vastly overrated Milton team 12-4. The game was marred by the loss of Warren Fields due to a shoulder injury. The next game against Nobles was much closer, and it took Andy Wright's OT goal with 27 seconds remaining to give Belmont a 4-3 win. After calling up Scott Murray and Scott Bothfeld (who later returned to the freshman), the team lost its only league game to Thayer, 3-2 despite great goaltending from Dave Jacobs. The next game was a close fought 5-4 win against St. Pauls. Josh Moulton scored a key shorthanded goal to pace the Hillies. The next two games were lackluster performances, with a 5-3 BB&N win and 6-5 victory over Lawrence. The following two games against St. Sebastians and Brooks were both routs, as the team prepared for the final five important games. The team edged Thayer 5-4 to avenge the earlier loss, and proceeded to destroy Milton 7-2 and embarrass Nobles 8-0 before a capacity crowd at Dedham. The team clinched the league title with a come from behind 4-3 win over St. Pauls. The final game was saved by Brad Johnson, whose goal and assist provided the difference in a 6-5 victory over BB&N.

Although it greatly outplayed BB&N in the Murphy Cup, the team lost 4-2, and ended a great season with a disappointing loss. With captain-elect Scott Webster and Greg Dempsey returning on defense, and forwards Duvie Duvall and Greg Donovan returning, next years outlook is promising, and next year's team hopes to have as good a season as this year's.

Belmont Hill hockey has always had a tradition of excellence, and in keeping with this tradition, the Belmont Hill Junior Varsity hockey team posted an excellent overall 13-3-2 record and a 9-2-0 record in the league.

The team, ably coached by Tim Bickford and John Copeland, was not yet two weeks old before they met Tabor at Belmont Hill and without much trouble defeated them 6-1. The next game was a tough one, against Malden Catholic. The game was very physical and near the end of the game, Belmont was trailing 3-1. Domination near the end of the game by Belmont Hill resulted in goals by Mark Latti and Ted Tutun, and BHS skated away with a tie.

The next six games showed how strong this team was by outscoring their opponents by 36-7 in this span, compiling a 6-0 record. A 9-2 win over Buckingham, Browne and Nichols was followed by a 6-1 win over St. Sebastians and a 3-2 squeaker over Milton where Belmont Hill just escaped with the win. The next 3 games were examples of total domination by BHS: an 8-0 win over Nobles, a 7-2 win over Thayer, and a 3-0 shutout over Lawrence.

The next was against an all-star team from Pittsburg. The two teams skated stride for stride and traded goals through the three periods and at the buzzer were deadlocked, 3-3. The game then went into overtime and with a minute left Pittsburg scored. The game was highlighted by the sensational goaltending of Michael Schwalb and picture perfect goal by Kevin Coakley. This was Belmont Hill's first loss even though it was non-league.

Belmont Hill was then handed two consecutive losses by Thayer and Milton, whom they had previously beaten. Belmont Hill was missing four juniors this game, due to excellent skiing and the team thus dropped their first league contest 3-2. The next week they were similarly outplayed by Milton 5-2, their third straight loss.

BHS needed to get back their winning ways, and they did so at the expense of Nobles, 5-4 in overtime. A blast from the point in overtime by Jim "Duck, He's going to shoot" Kiley and a goal from Tom "THE SHOT" Dolan was the difference.

The team ended the season on a good note with two successive 4-1 wins over Andover and Buckingham, Browne, and Nichols. Goals by Chris "the Goalscorer" Sweeny and Bob Cleary proved to be too much for Andover, and the total team effort against Buckingham, Browne, and Nichols was too much as Belmont Hill beat them for the second time.

The team had no real stars but many contributors. The offense was spread over the three lines of Ted Tutun — Neil Mahoney — Ted Noyes, Chris Sweeny — Kurt Simon — John Petit, Kevin Coakley — Bill Henderson — Matt Bassinet. The Defense was strong in pairs of Mart Latti — Jim Kiley, and Bob Cleary — John Murphy. Many thanks to Mr. Bickford and Mr. Copeland for their efforts this year and good luck to everyone next year.

Following a snowless winter last year, this year's ski team was thinking snow. The Nordic team having graduated several key members, nevertheless looked strong. However, the Alpine team having suffered gerater losses through graduation knew that it would have to rely upon undiscovered talent to keep the title.

The season began with grueling, dry-land training. The Nordic skiers worked on their endurance with many trips to Met. State and many Rt. 2 loops on roller skis, while the Alpine skiers worked on leg strength with pole hops, Harvard "stadiums", as well as numerous soccer games against the Nordic squad.

On December 17 both squads journeyed to Waterville Valley for the annual ski training camp. This year's camp was unique having changed location from the usual Schussverine ski club, and it provided some of the best coaching the ski team has ever known. The Nordic coaches included such notables as Walter Malmquist and John Caldwell, while the Alpine squad was blessed by former, accomplished Belmont Hill skiers Peter Nordbloom, Gordie Hall, and Paul Avery. This year's camp contributed greatly to the success and prowess of the ski team.

During the season each squad raced in three major races. The racing season started with a barrage of back to back races for the Nordic team. On January 7 the Nordic squad raced Nobles, showing clear superiority by defeating our arch-rival by 57 seconds. Strong finishes in this race were had by Mark Sutton, who demolished the field by over a minute, along with Scott Bates and Kirk Fernald who finished fourth and fifth respectively.

The next day the Cross Country team competed in a Public School League meet, finishing a close second to Concord Carlisle due to a different scoring method. These two races established the true strength of the Nordic squad.

The Alpine team began it's season with a varsity ISSC at Blue Hills on January 14. The unusually tricky course led to the disqualification of over half the field, which caused an unusual second place finish for the Hillies behind an unexpectedly strong Nobles squad. Freshman sensation Dan Lynch placed second, while skiemiester Scott Bates along with Peter Mills and Chris Hartnett all finished in the top ten.

The Cross Country team then journeyed to Middlesex for what turned out to be the deciding contest, determining the league title due to the future lack of snow. Belmont Hill defeated runner-up Nobles by five points, cutting down the combined point deficit to seven points. Eventual league champion, Mark Sutton, led the field, while senior Kirk Fernald turned in an outstanding third place finish. The team was greatly aided by it's depth including sophomores Scott Bates and Gardiner Bradlee, as well as the brothers Cogswell.

On February 4 the Alpine team was to compete in its second ISSC of the season, and it was not defeated twice in a row. The team demolished the second place finisher Nobles by nine points, thus giving Belmont Hill the overall lead by three points, a lead it would hold onto for the rest of the season. Freshman Dan Lynch was the winner of the contest, while Martin Sorger and Scott Bates finished third and sixth respectively.

Nearing the end of the season, the weather became condusive to snow making, and so the Alpine team on March 3 journeyed to Nashoba Valley for their final ISSC. Dan Lynch again turned in a stellar, first-place performance, earning himself the gold medal for the league. Senior Billy Budd also turned in a very impressive second place finish, but it was during the second run that the trouble started. For in this run five out of the ten BHS racers disqualified themselves, making the final score interesting, if not nerve-racking. However, in the end the Belmont Hill skiers went on to achieve a thirteen point victory over second place Nobles, sewing up the league championship in both the Alpine and the combined.

The 1981 ski team was one of the finest teams ever to represent Belmont Hill. Led by Co-Captains Bruce Riley and Chris Cogswell, along with five other seniors, the team compiled an outstanding record. The coaches, Mr. Bates, Mr. Hunt, and Mr. Melcher are to be congratulated on their superb effort and success with this team. Next year's team under the leadership of Co-Captains Ted Guthrie and Tim van Leer will enjoy tremendous depth and talent from the younger skiers, and is very likely to repeat as league champions and keep up the winning tradition of the Belmont Hill ski team.

Varsity Squash

Following one of Belmont Hill's most talented squash teams in the 1979-1980 season, this year's varsity team was left with but one returning letterman. Despite this team's inexperience, the squad managed to struggle through one of the most rigorous prep-school schedules with a respectable 14-6 record.

With the team's lineup still in doubt, the team first travelled to Brooks for the annual Jackson Memorial tournament in which Brooks, Belmont Hill, Middlesex, Groton, and Milton all competed. Led by sophomore Bob Sandler who fought his way to the semi-finals, and captain Buckner who won the tournament, the squash team finished first. Following this most noble achievement, the team thwarted archrival Milton in their first team match. Despite this auspicious start the team lost three straight to Choate, Middlesex, and Exeter. However, determined to achieve a winning record, the raquet men soon corrected this losing trend. After these most ignominious defeats Belmont Hill's ladder began to alter until what turned out to be an immobile lineup was created. This lineup remained unaltered to the end: (1) John Buckner, (2) Brewster King, (3) Jon Bernheimer, (4) Bob Sandler, (5) Steve Healey, (6) Frank Virnelli who played in the fifth position for some matches.

After the annihilation of a weak Commonwealth team, this permanent lineup went on to upset Andover 4-1 and upset Brooks 4-1 as well. Then, after a legitimate loss to a brilliant St. Pauls team, the squad surprised both Groton and Tabor with two perfect 5-0 victories.

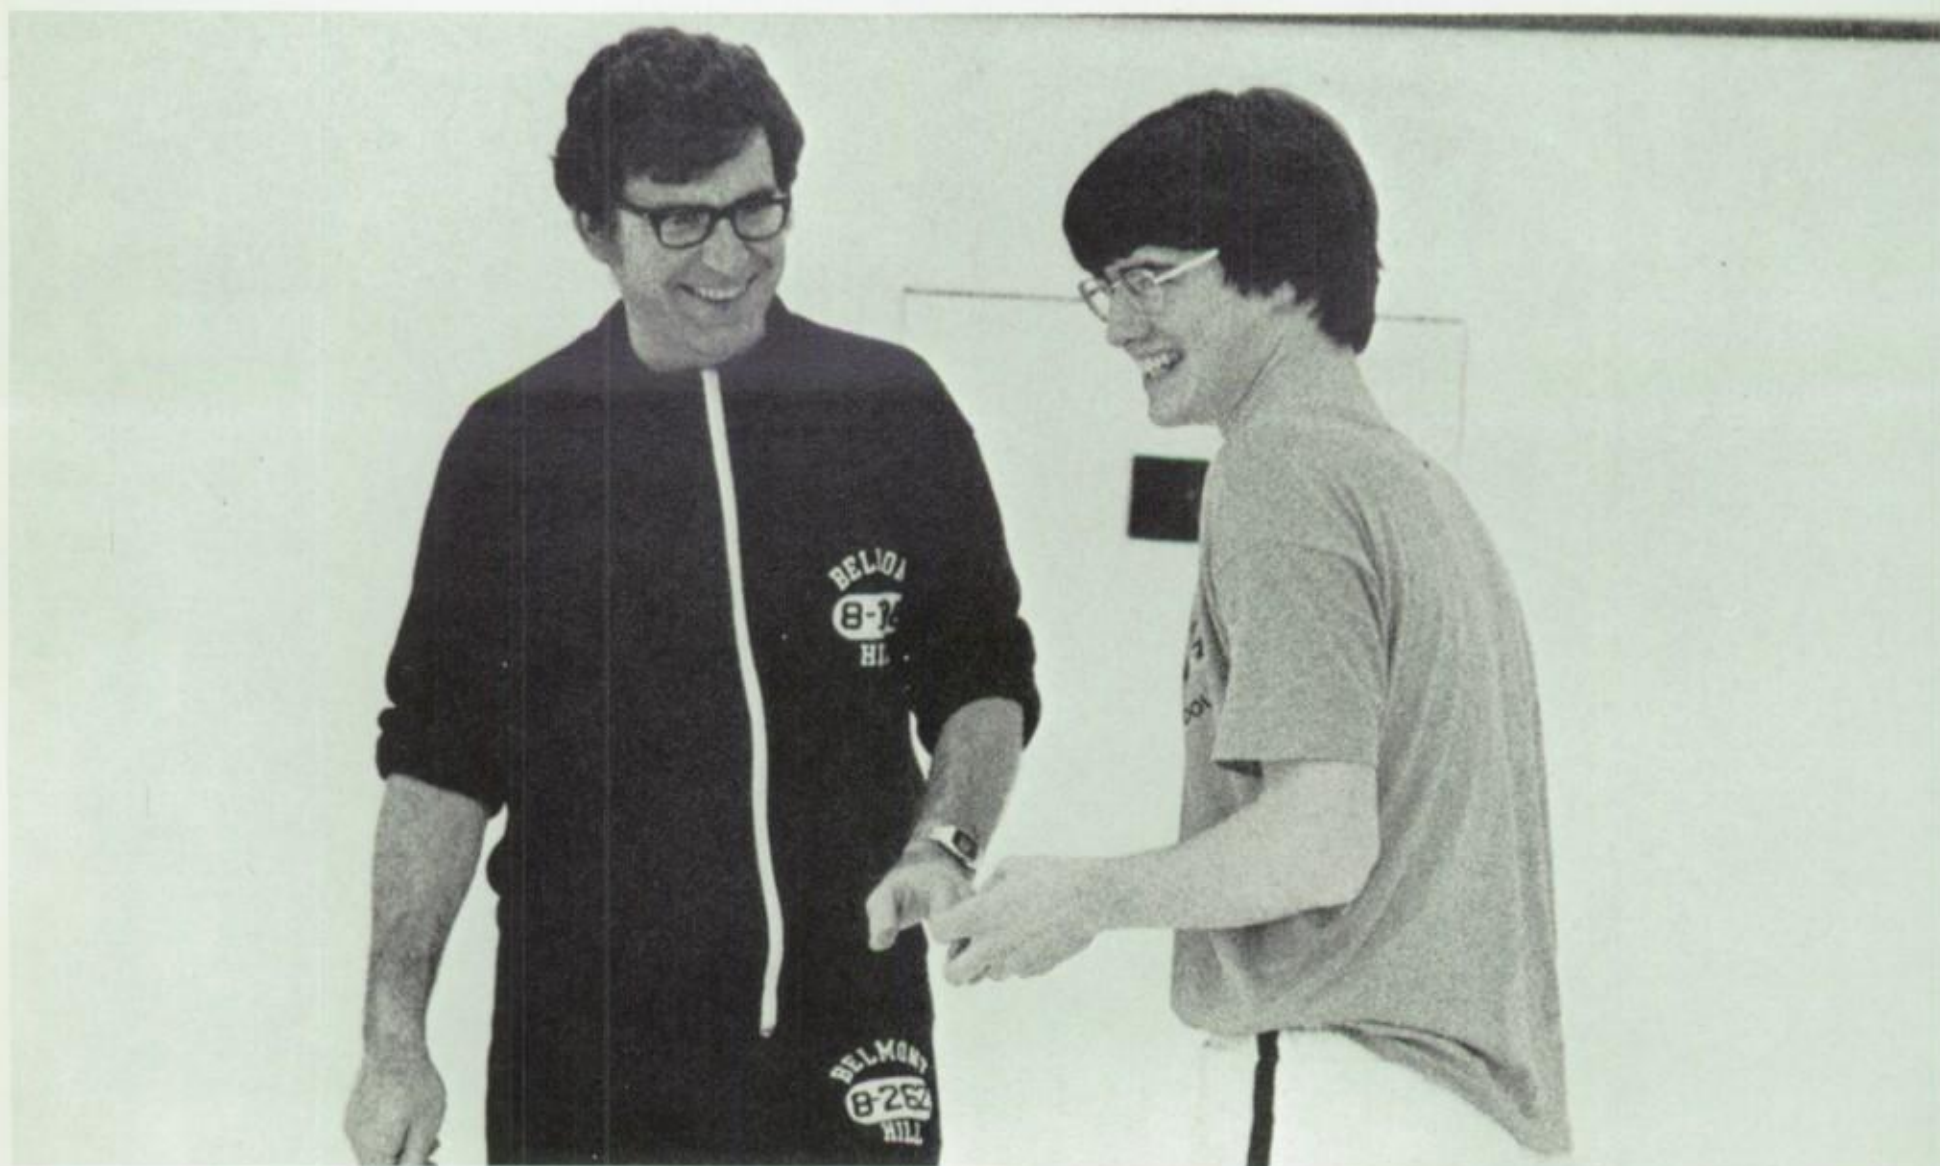

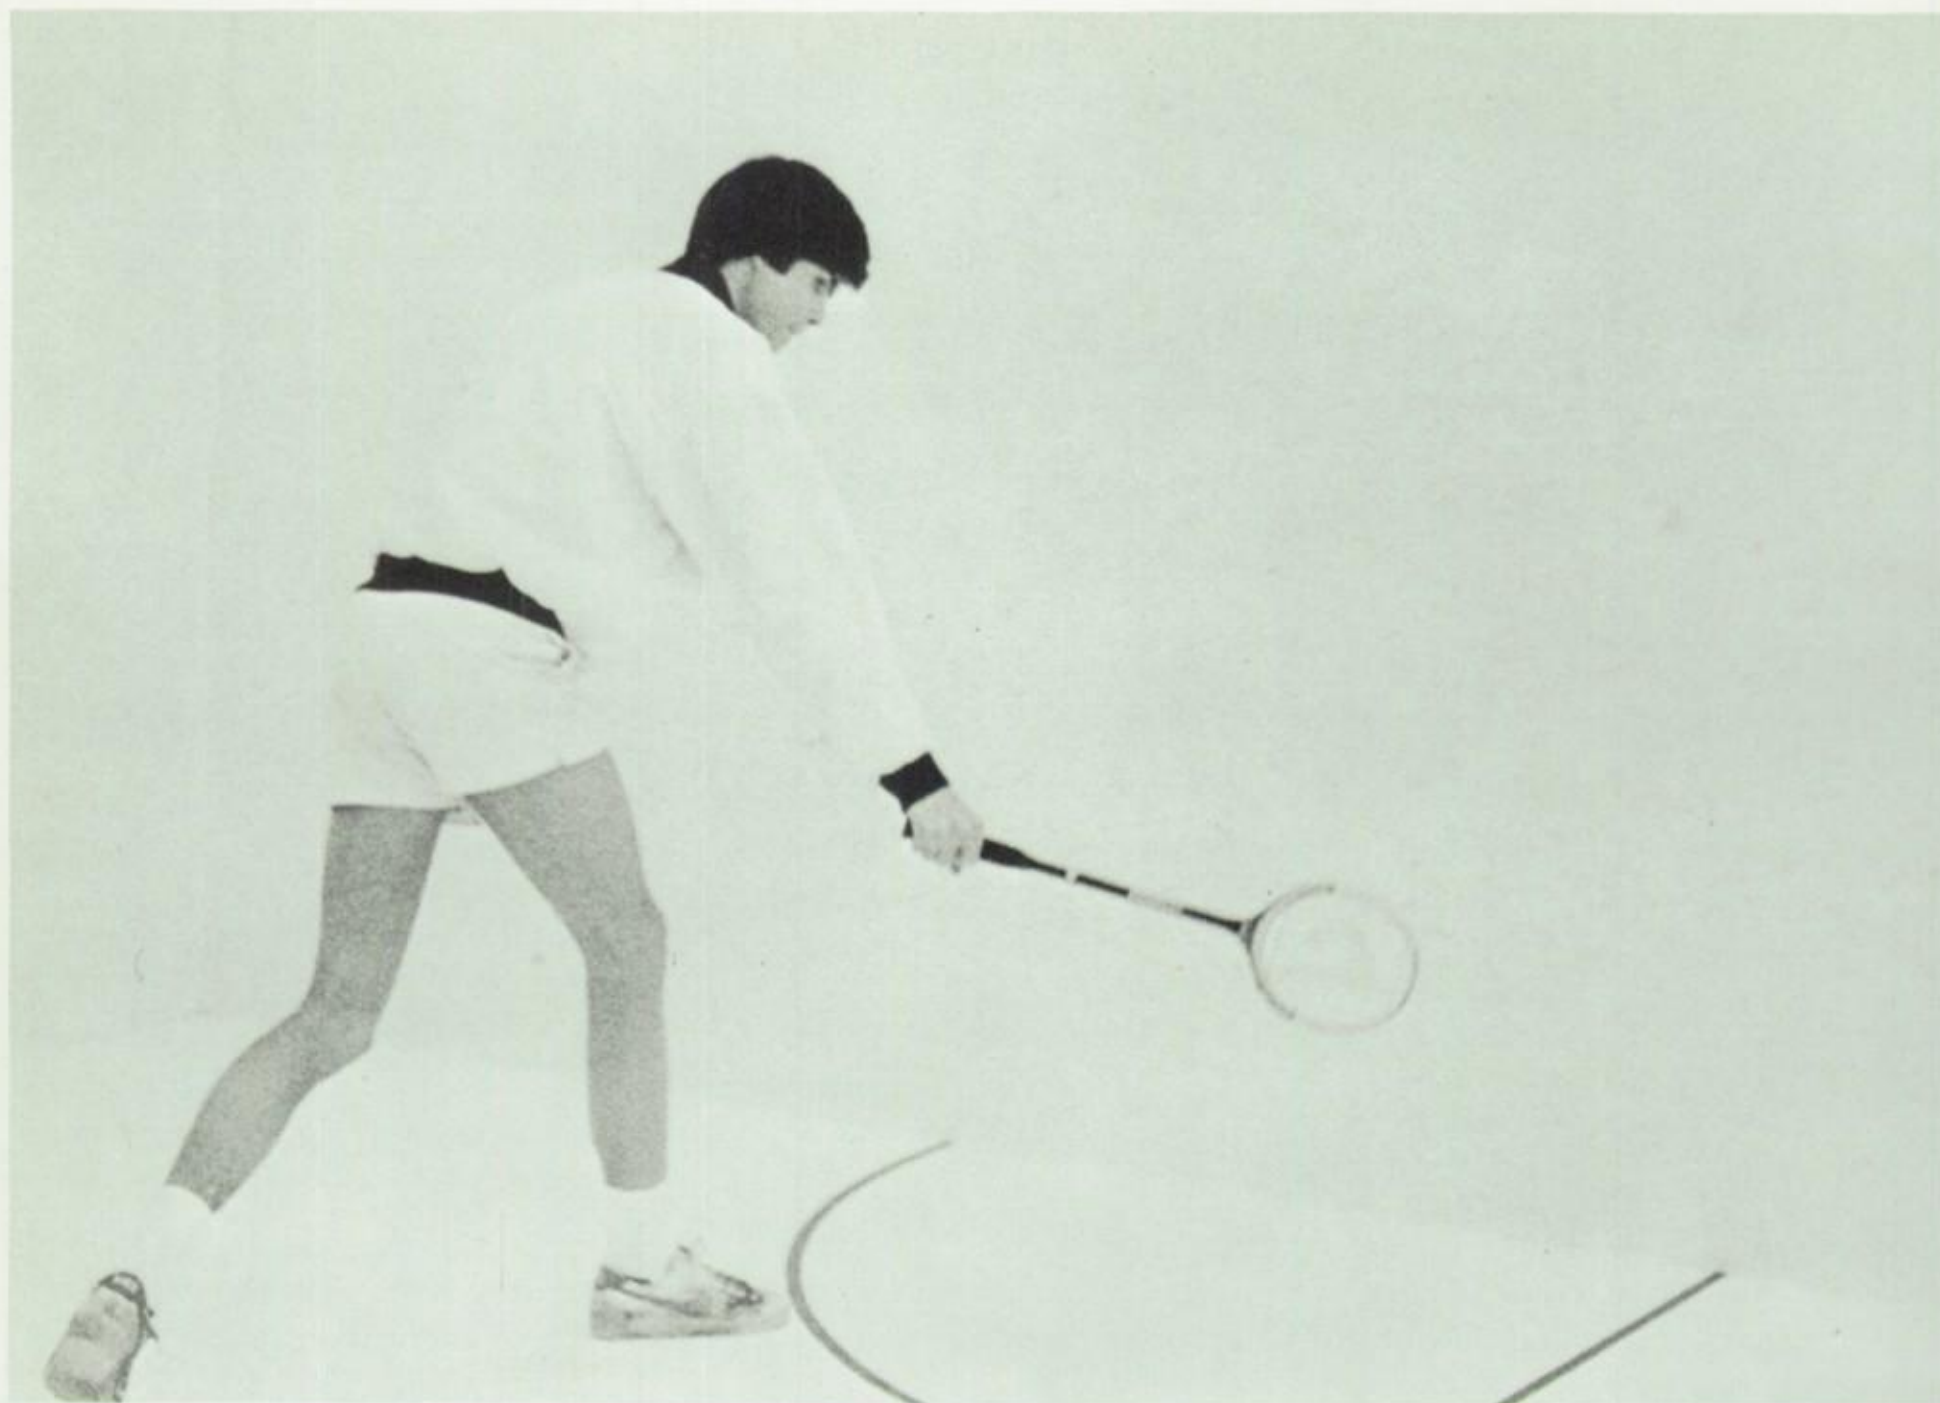

Floating on a high resulting from four previous slaughters, the varsity team cruised out to Deerfield to contest this traditionally competitive school. With three five game losses, the team was lucky to escape with a 1-4 annihilation. The obvious lack of both concentration and stamina in the three five game losses kicked some sense into the entire varsity, and after defeating a scrappy Groton 3-2, Belmont Hill obliterated Tabor, Brooks and Trinity College School all 5-0.

With great confidence and humility Belmont Hill drove down to Harvard to send the freshmen back to their studies, and then, the varsity steered interscholastic champions Moses Brown back to Rhode Island with a startling 3-2 romp. With Healey and Sandler burying their opponents, the key victory came from 12 year old Jon Bernheimer who upset his opponent 3-2. To taste again the flavor of defeat the team had to lose 3-2 to a disliked Middlesex squad.

Once again however the team rose to the occasion to obtain two clutch victories against both Tufts' freshmen and Milton. Against Tufts, the key wins were achieved by Brew King and Bob Sandler; while at Milton it was Bob Sandler and Jon Bernheimer who paved the road to victory.

With a fantastic surprise record of 14-6, the 1981 squash team can not be displeased, despite a mediocre performance at the interscholastics. Interestingly enough, this will probably be merely the first of a string of superb seasons, because a look to the talented Middle school will illustrate the depth of the squash program. With Mr. Hawley developing the interest, coaches Seeley and Newman have been able to cultivate a plethora of young talent in the lower school. Further-more, with only two members graduating, Junior Brew King, Sophomore Bob Sandler and seventh-grader Jon Bernheimer should find next year's teams that much weaker.

J.V. Squash

The Junior Varsity squash team was not expected to do very well this season. The bulk of the team of the previous year was either now on the varsity or was a senior who could only play at the number one position. Despite their inexperience, and because of their desire to work hard, the team finished with an impressive 13-2 record.

The team started off by losing a heartbreaker to Milton 3-2. But they then won the next three in a row, two of which were very close (the Middlesex and Amherst Regional High matches were 3-2), and an impressive win at Brooks, 5-0. Then Belmont Hill faced an awesome St. Paul's squad and lost 5-0, the only match all season in which they had no chance.

After St. Paul's, however, the team went undefeated in its last ten games. During this incredible streak, such prestigious schools as Exeter, Tabor, and Middlesex were put away lightly. The final match of the season was a grudge match against Milton. In this match Belmont Hill showed little mercy in avenging their previous defeat. They won this one by a 4-1 score.

Frank Virnelli played number one more than anyone else, but this position was filled ably by Robbie Hallagan and Georges Sa-laun. The rest of the team consisted of Sam Higgins (who posted a 10-3 record), Warren Cross (who had the best personal J.V. record, 10-2), Chip Hamann (8-3), and Adam Banker (4-3, but with some key wins). Hallagan posted a 9-3 record and was the closest thing to a captain the team had. The only way that the team could have achieved their record was through the coaching of Mr. John Newman a fine player and a better coach.

Varsity Wrestling

This year's varsity wrestling squad was riddled with inexperience. The team returned only four varsity lettermen, while the eight remaining weight classes were filled by first year starters. Despite this handicap, the team was able to post an 8-6 record.

One of the most spectacular performers on the team was Jay Austen. At 110 lbs. Jay compiled an impressive 9-5 record. On more than one occasion Jay used his powerful body slam to take down his opponent and excite the crowd. With his combination of strength and skill, Jay placed 5th at the New England Prep School Championships, and one can only look forward to bigger and better things from this young eighth grader.

The 115 lbs. class was shared by Alan "Torch" Marcotte and Ralph Cahaly. Although the two did not have widespread success, they gained much experience and should help the team in the future.

The 121 lbs. class was also split between the two fine wrestlers. Robert Desrosiers and Dan Green had many fierce trial bouts to determine who would own the spot. When they weren't battling each other, they usually came through in the big matches.

One of the most outstanding wrestlers on the team was Frank Muggia. At 128 lbs.

Frank had an 8-1 record before he was injured and had to miss the last four dual meets. "Fearless" dominated most of his opponents and placed sixth at the Graves-Kelsey tournament. Frank should be a power next year for Belmont Hill.

The 133 lbs. class was held by Doug Wolf. This ninth grader performed admirably throughout the season. He always seemed ready to meet a challenge, and his competitive spirit will him to become a great wrestler in the future.

Captain Tim Amory entered the line-up this year at 138 lbs. Tim posted a 10-3-1 record in dual meets. He placed second in the Holiday Tournament, and culminated his wrestling career with a spectacular performance in the New England Championships, which earned him the second place trophy. Tim was not only a fine wrestler, but also he was a model captain. His intensity and great competitiveness inspired the team when they most needed it.

At 145 lbs. Fred Daley wrestled one of the toughest classes in the league. Although Fred had a rough start, he came through at the end of the season with some fine victories. Fred should look forward to a strong season next year.

Eric Price was one of only three seniors on the team this season. With his liberal use of the "Peterson Roll", Eric compiled a 7-7 record at 152 lbs., and led the team with key victories and a good spirit.

Adam Hirshman stepped into the 160 lbs. spot after Rick Wolf was injured. Adam had a very good season, which ended with his sixth place finish at the Graves-Kelsey Tournament.

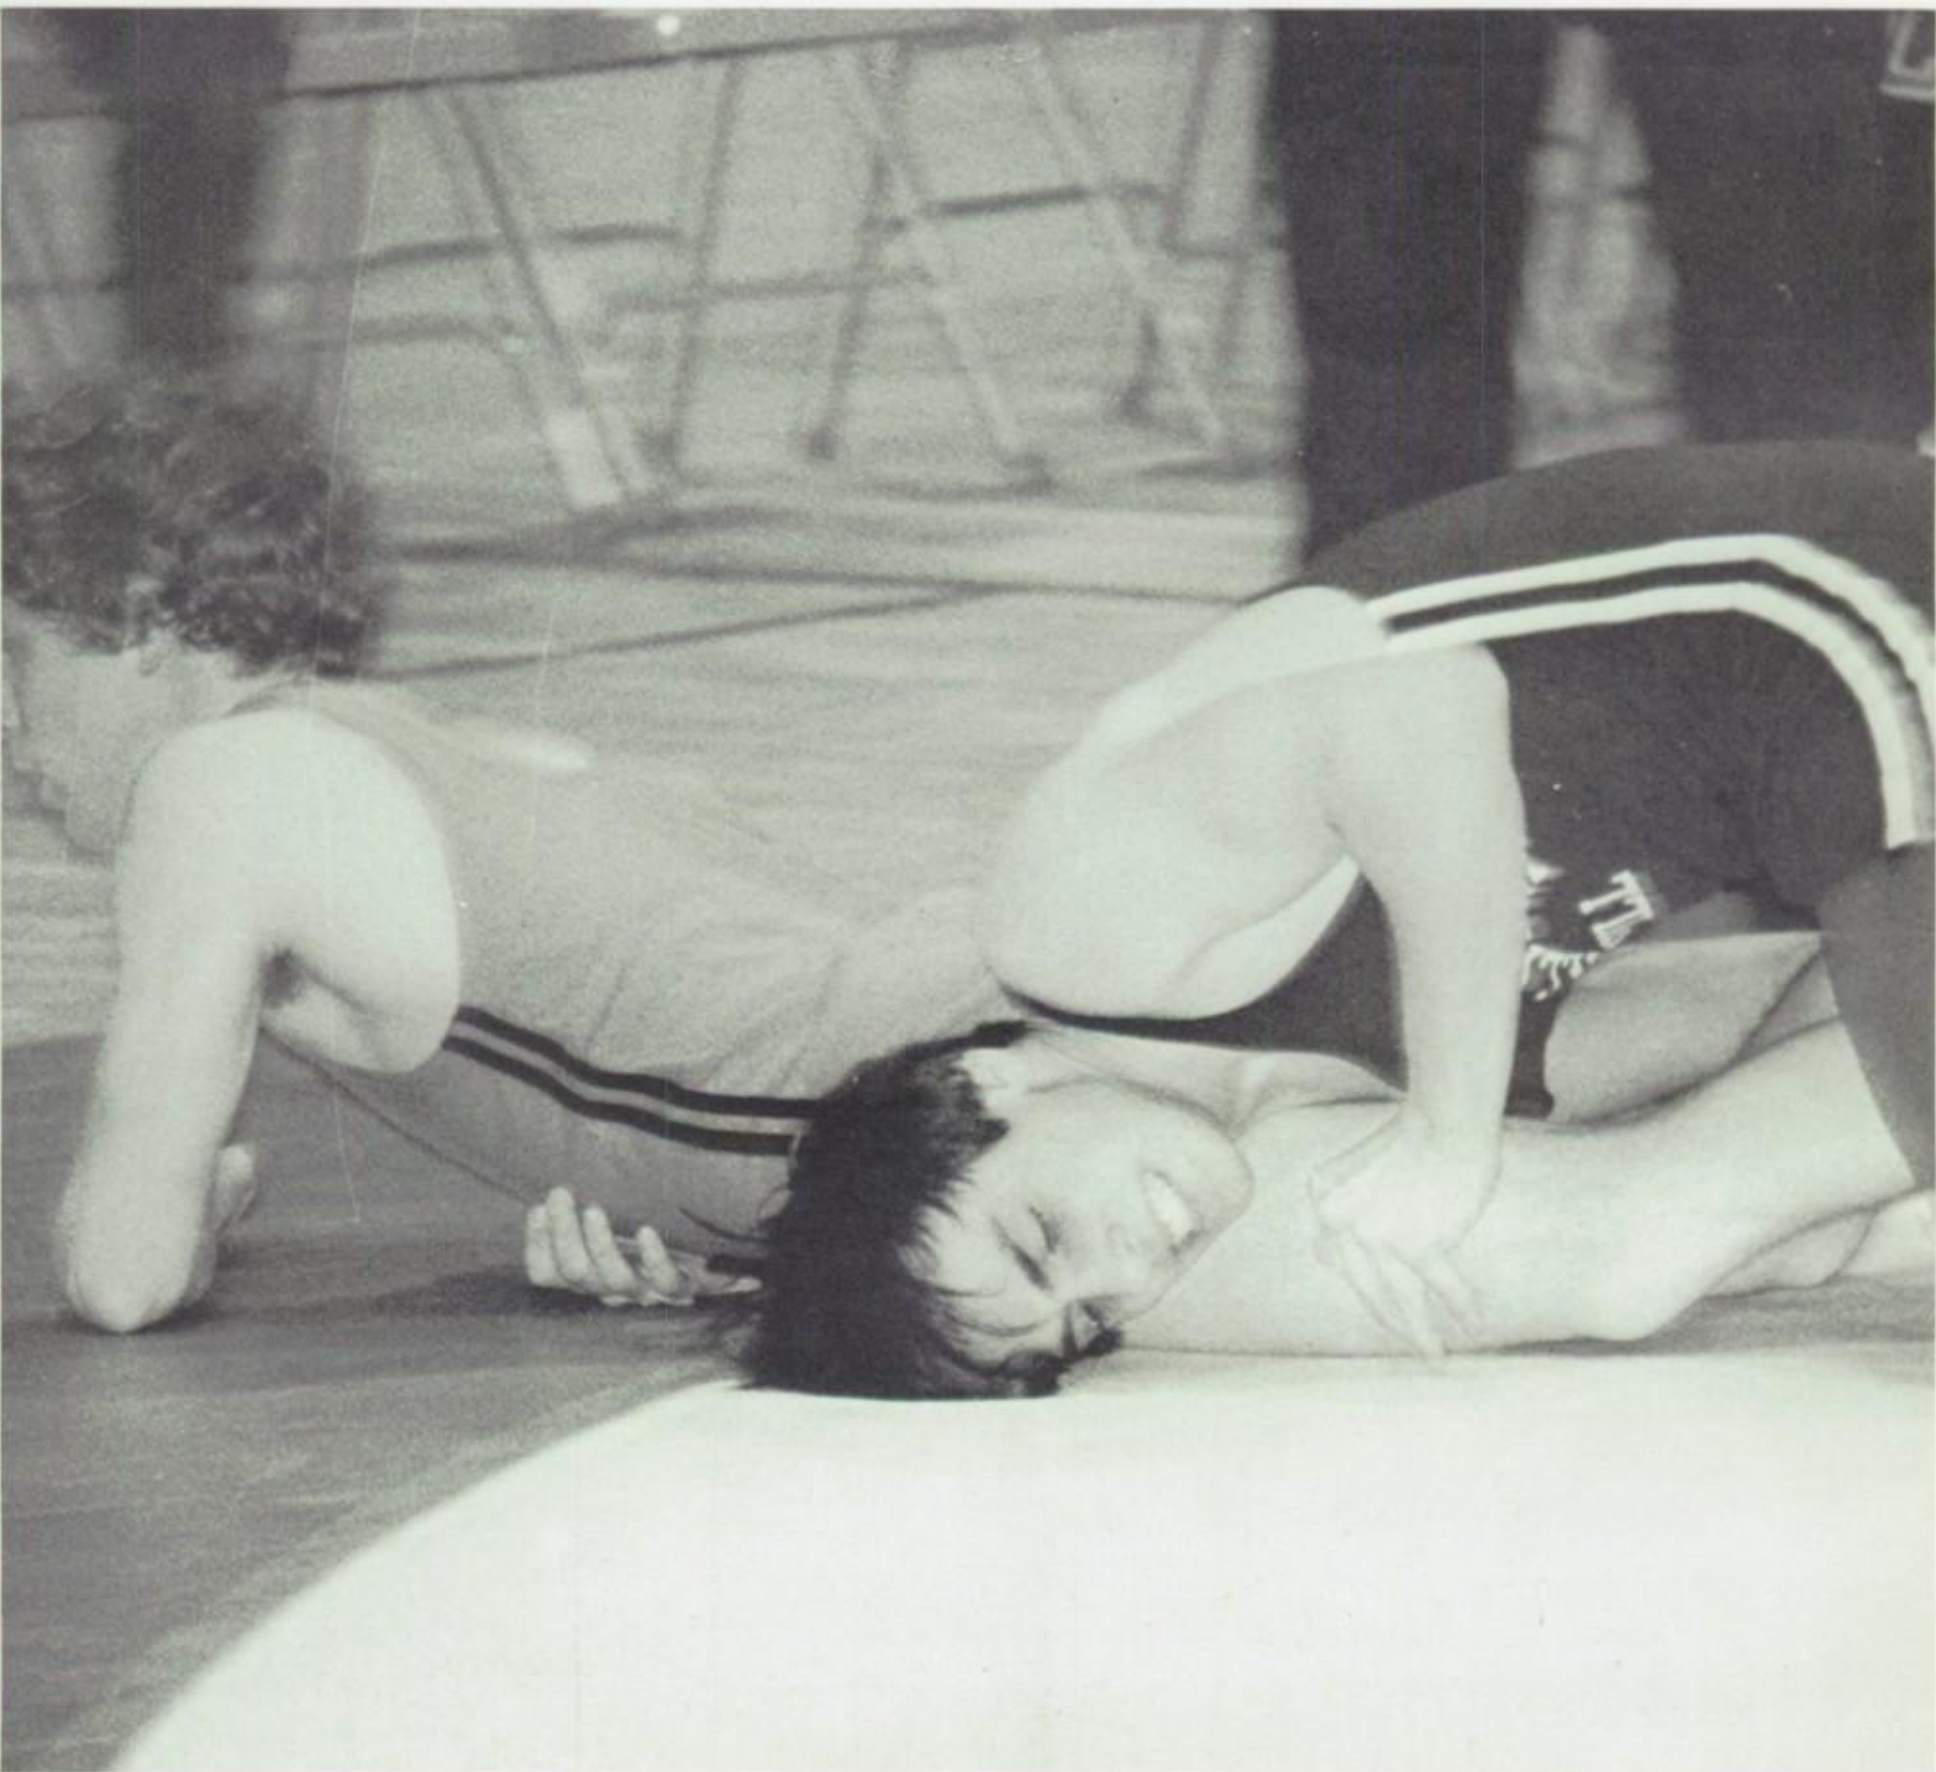

Luke "Ziggy" Yeransian had a good season at 167 lbs. Luke is a very knowledgeable wrestler, who combines strength and desire to his advantage. If Luke can learn to cope with tough opponents, and if he learns the advantage of the head-lock, then he is headed for great success.

At 177 lbs. Phil Levy was only able to post a 4-10 record. Although Phil gave away fifteen pounds to most opponents, he learned much and helped to inspire the team to victory.

This year's heavyweight was David Anderson. David had a perfect 14-0 dual meet record. He placed second in the Holiday tournament, and he placed third in the Graves-Kelsey tournament after he seemed to lose his "competitive edge" in the semi-finals. As next year's captain it will be necessary for David to reproduce this awesome record if the team is to be successful.

There were many memorable moments during the season, and next year's team can only look forward to a championship season. With some aggressive wrestling and a bit of luck, there will be many personal as well as team successes.

Varsity Baseball

Opening the season on a sour note, losing to Thayer 7-5, the 1981 Varsity Baseball team quickly rebounded. Though it encountered many obstacles in the form of injuries, the team finished up with a respectable 11-5 record.

Early season heroics were turned in by Sophomore Mike Schwalb and Senior Scott Fusco, who both led the offense against the Hillies next foe, Rivers. Senior Chris Kolligian held back the Rivers attack with a seven strike-out, no-walk performance, as Belmont trounced, 6-2.

Against Groton, the Hill prevailed in a marathon, rain-threatened game. Jumping out to a 6-1 lead, Belmont clung on to win, 10-5. John Simourian contributed to the offensive punch with four RBI's, while Rick Ganong pitched well.

After three consecutive easy victories against Lexington Christian, Lawrence and St. Pauls, the Hill posted a 5-1, record. However, Middlesex and a string of nightmares were to follow. The potential championship team fell prey to injuries. Captain Scott Fusco, the starting shortstop, hitting .650, was lost for almost the entire season with a broken forearm. Mike Schwalb was lost for much of the season with a badly sprained ankle. The team lost to Middlesex, 8-5.

Now it was time to regroup. The line-up was shuffled. Junior Ted Tutun moved from second base to shortstop, while Junior Dave Jacobs and Senior Bill Cleary were platooned at second base. Knowing the true importance of the next game against St. Sebastians, the team put its heart into this one. Although unable to put to sleep the St. Sebastian dreams of victory, Belmont played a sound game.

Now holding a 5-3 record, Belmont regrouped again. While winning only three of its next five games, Belmont won two straight after the St. Sebastians loss. It crunched Milton 13-5 and defeated GDA 18-3. Ted Tutun and John Simourian led the attack in these games, compiling nine hits in fifteen visits to the plate and twelve runs batted in between the two of them. Tutun was also superb in the field against the Governors, robbing batters of two hits, with seven plays in the field.

Nobles and BB&N were two totally different stories. While Belmont jumped off to a 3-1 lead against Nobles, this was one they could not hold. Timely hitting by the Ganong-Tutun duo put the Hill back in the lead, 5-4, but this was not to be a day of victory. Nobles struck back and snatched a victory out of the claws of defeat, 8-5.

Now holding a 9-4 record, Belmont met BB&N. Losing 13-5, any hopes of a league title were shattered.

Out of the cloud of defeat emerged Junior Dave Jacobs, who stymied a Brooks offense from the mound, as Belmont won 6-2.

In the last game of the season Belmont showed what it was made of. Captain Scott Fusco played first base with a cast; Josh Moulton, recovering from a broken hand, played a stellar centerfield. Tim Elwell paced Belmont to a 2-0 lead with a run scoring single, while Chris Kolligian pitched 5 innings of scoreless ball, as Belmont destroyed any Roxbury Latin title hopes, winning 24-3.

The team ended the season with a 11-5 record, and while it was not a banner year, there were many highlights. Catcher John Simourian hit .462 and was selected to the first team all-league squad along with short-stop Ted Tutun who hit .442. Pitcher Kris Kolligian received an honorable mention to this team. With nine returning lettermen and the pitching of Rick Ganong, Andy Wright, and Dave Jacobs, next year's team should be nothing less than champions.

The 1981 Junior Varsity Baseball team was one which was in keeping with the winning ways of the past. Finishing with a strong 11-2 record, the team was the epitomy of solid baseball, with strong defense, offense, and pitching.

Experiencing only two losses all year, at the hands of Thayer and Milton, the team was able to win handily in all the other games, while at the same time juggling the line-ups each game assured every worthy player his playing time. But whatever the lineup was, it was always imposing, for this was a team of great depth.

And the team had it's share of standout performers too. In the outfield, lead-off hitter and right fielder John Pettit showed remarkable smoothness in his play while constantly chipping in at the plate too. He went 15 for 29, which is a percentage of over 50 percent. Nick Berents was steady in left, making plays like the one in the second to last game in which he caught a fly ball hit medium deep and then alertly nailed the startled Brooks runner at first base completing a heads up double play. In center field, Scott Bates played consistently and was the iron man of the outfield, playing seventy-two innings of the team's ninety-two inning total. He hit .375 with 12 hits, good enough to place him third on the team in hits.

The infield was composed of Peter Monaco at first, Brian Brady at second, Bill Willer, Chuck Heskett, and Tim Casey at short and the Mike Annino-Mark Demichaelis duo at third. Standouts here were Peter Monaco with a .314 average and a homer, a triple, and a double, one of only three to obtain hits in these categories. Brian Brady was perhaps the best offensive player on the team. He hit .410 with five doubles, two triples, and one homer. "Brades" stole eight bases to lead the team, struck out only once all year. His hustling and gutsy type of play started many of the team's rallies and contributed to many of the team's defensive games while on the field. At shortstop, Bill Willer, while hitting only .250, walked seven times, tying for the team lead in that category, and kicked in a double, too. He finished second to Brady in the stolen base department with six. Another shortstop, Chuck Heskett, also was an important man on the team. His patented one hand charges of ground balls and hustle kept him among the team's top players. Tim Casey also contributed a good glove and made a couple of quality plays during the season, most notably in the St. Mark's game where he killed a late inning rally with a pickoff at second base of an opponent runner. Third base was solid with the good defensive contributions of Mike Annino had a good beginning and then a strong ending of the season. Mark Demichaelis also was even with Annino at the plate by hitting consistently (a homer vs. Roxbury Latin) and contributing a good glove.

Behind the plate, playing the most innings of all, was Mark Monaco. Mark made the switch from third base to catcher early in the season and stood out as one of the most dependable and consistent players on the team, after he struggled out of an early season slump. Mark finished with a solid .314 average with two doubles and six RBIs, which put him sixth on the team in RBIs.

On the mound, Dave Walker and Sam Higgins both pitched extremely well. Higgins, overcoming early season wildness, came back and threw a no-hitter against Governor Dummer. Walker, on the other hand, consistently worked out of jams and was truly one of the aces of the staff.

The season was a successful one and coaches Greer, Reich, and Kimball can look forward to a strong J.V. team next year because of the squad of 81's great depth.

Varsity Crew

Rowing for the Belmont Hill crew team is a unique experience, involving many hours of extremely demanding physical exercise but also including an equal amount of learning and enjoyment.

This years varsity crew team was exceptional due to many talented oarsmen and one of the best coaching staffs in all New England schoolboy crew. This staff, consisting of Mr. Bassett and Mr. Chris Riley, provided a great amount of teaching and understanding beneficial to all those involved in the program. Manager Ted "Macmanager" MacMahon was a big help with all the rigging and managerial tasks, but his inspiration and strong support of the team was even more valuable.

The first boat was most definitely one of the best if not the top first boat ever at Belmont Hill. It consisted of such intense oarsmen as stroke and leader of the boat Rick Wisentaner, a senior, powerful three-man Dave Anderson, a junior, explosive two-man Tim vanLeer, also a junior, and finally a dedicated and wild bow-man, captain Preston Curtis, a senior. Steering this boat to its undefeated season was coxen David Kazanjian, who along with the other varsity coxens, demonstrated how vital their position is. At the New England championships on Lake Quinsigamond this boat placed first (#1) in the first fours competition and shattered the coarse record.

The second boat was almost as successful. This boat was made up of four other gifted oarsmen. They were stroke Chris Cogswell, young but the key three-man Joe Driscoll, Deserving two-man Paul Kjellberg, and the incomparable bow-man Tony Analetto. Brian McCarthy was the superb navigator in the stern. During the season the second boat only lost to one crew, Groton, which was an Extremely close race and a difference of less than a second. After this race the boat incurred some unexpected difficulties but made a remarkable recovery due to the tenacity of its oarsmen and helpful coxing of Brian. At the New England championships the second boat lost a close race to the Groton crew placing them second in all New England.

The third boat consisted of freshman John Geraghty as stroke, junior Jay Manson, sophomore Mark Legatta, sophomore Matt Curtis, and cox Niki Bokavich, a very young crew. They placed fourth at Quinsigamond.

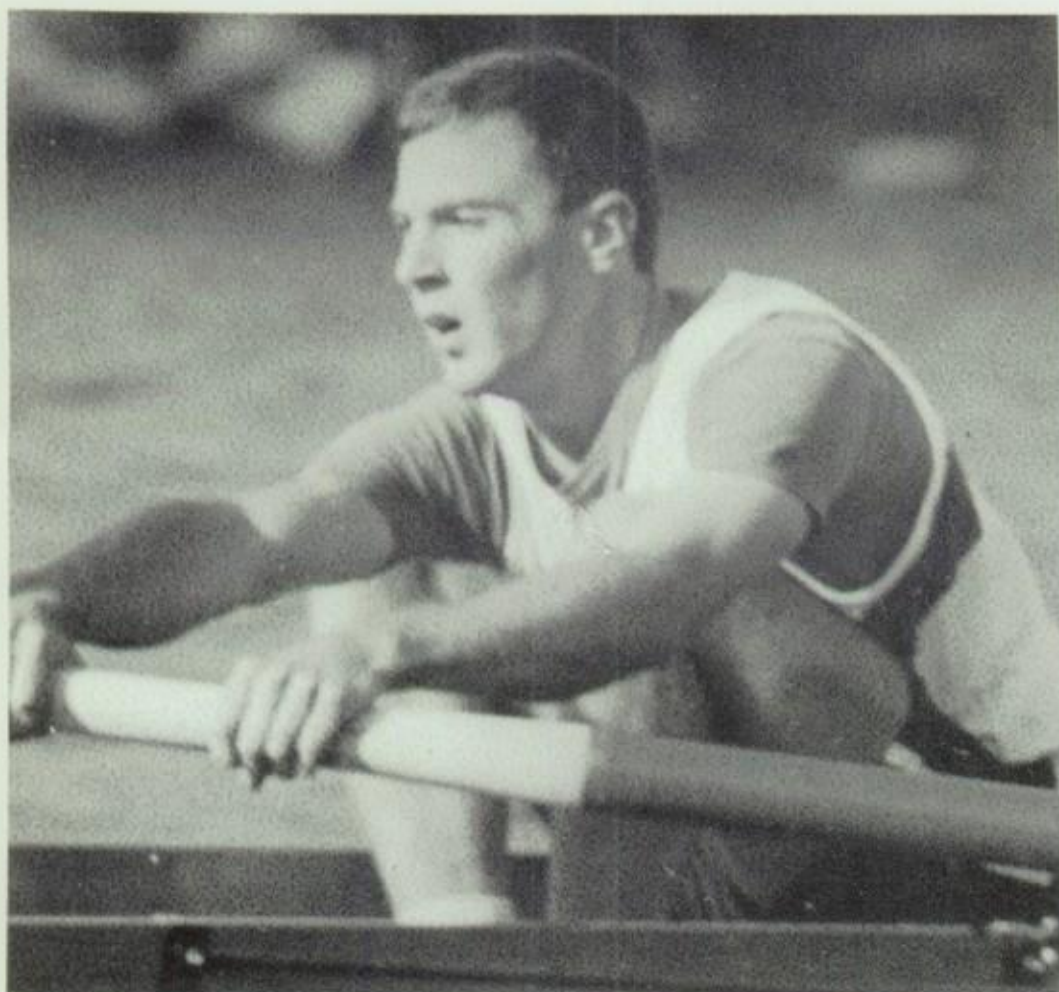

The fourth boat was also young including a junior, Steve Cogswell, sophomore Scott Strome, sophomore Sean Coughlin, sophomore Greg Dayton, and cox Lee Okurowski. This boat impressed all with its third place finish at Quinsigamond. During the season these second two boats experienced many seating changes but pulled a clutch performance at the very end.

The 1981 varsity crew team will be losing only four valuable seniors this year causing much competition for new varsity oarsmen yet giving next years team an advantage over most of its competition. I hope they are as successful as this years team. I would like to wish all senior oarsmen good luck with their college careers and hope they all keep in touch.

J.V. Crew

This year's J.V. crew season can be described as nothing less than stellar. With one boat losing one race and the other going undefeated all season long, the motivation was there as well as the capability. The team was given a new coach this year, and he proved to be a more than capable one. He is Kurt Sommerville, a graduate of both Nobles and Dartmouth, and a gifted oarsman. He has rowed on both olympic and world teams, and used his knowledge of the sport to better the quality and power of his two boats.

Both boats started the season off well with defeats over Moses Brown, Salisbury, and

Brooks. An unavoidable change was then made in the two boats, and things were forced to move back to the initial stages of the season. The boats stood as Dan MacDonald, Mark Latti, Peter Healey, Ted O'Loughlin, and cox Andy Curtin as the 2nd boat and Rich Rodman, Peter Mills, Mark Terry, Gardner Bradlee, and cox George O'Connor in the 1st boat. These combinations tried hard to achieve the best and that they did. Against Groton the 2nd boat got behind at the start, but gave Groton an excellent race only to have Groton win by less than one second. The first boat continued its winning streak by beating Groton by a healthy margin.

Once over this loss the boats strove together to overcome the defeat and anticipate the races against B.B.&N. and Nobles. This was accomplished by not only beating the older crews of Andover, but also by ruling in the three boat races of Belmont Hill, B.B.&N. and Nobles.

The J.V. crew season of 1981 will long be looked at by not only its individual crews but also the supportive coaches as a year that the program was taken charge of and dealt with productively.

Golf

1st. row: Desrosiers, Robsham, Webster, Finnerty, Kaplan, Jones, Simon, Coakley, Coach Walworth. 2nd row: Hartnett, Fox (Captain), Miller.

The squad breezed through two easy matches with St. Sebastian's and Nobles, but then came up against a strong Governor Dummer team. The close score a 4-3 heightened the disappointment of the loss. Sloppy play near the end of the season resulted in losses against Middlesex and Andover Academy. The system whereby the I.S.L. golf championship is decided consists of one eighteen hole tournament with the top five golfers from each school participating. The matches conducted during the season have no bearing on the selection of the champion. Thus, the Belmont Hill team still had high hopes of bringing home the trophy as Charlie Fox, Matt Miller, Bobby Jones, Paul Robsham, and Robert Desrosiers looked forward to the event. Unfortunately, nothing went right all day except the tee shots, as the team tied for third overall. The bright spot in the day came as Bobby Jones came in with the second lowest individual score of the day. The rest of the contingent had scores too high to print here. Since next year's team will lose only two of it's top seven, it is a good bet that it will attain new heights under Captain Scott Webster.

The 1980-81 Belmont Hill Varsity Golf team's season began on a dark March afternoon, as twenty-one hopeful candidates poured onto the Pine Meadows Golf Course in Lexington. In a grueling four days of constant golf, the large group was whittled down to thirteen men. There were two weeks of challenge matches to construct a ladder for match play. By April 17, the top seven spots were set, and the team travelled to the Dedham Country Club to defeat a good Nobles 6-1. Victories by Captain Charlie Fox plus Matt Miller, Robert Desrosiers, Paul Robsham, Scott Webster, and Kurt Simon brought back memories of the year before when these same six filled out all but one spot in the top seven. This abundance of experience helped the team through some close matches, one of them against St. Sebastian's, as the squad won by a narrow 4-3 margin. Many of the matches lasted the full nine holes, but the clutch wins came, as Belmont Hill walked away with a well deserved victory. This match was Freshman Bobby Jones' first victory on the team, the first of many this year.

Though the team was hurt both by ailing students and by college touring seniors for the next two matches, the lower end of the team held up as they defeated Worcester Academy and Milton both by scores of 7-0. The great depth of this group showed during those two matches, as Sophomore Steve Kaplan and Junior Mark Finnerty, both newcomers to the golf program, triumphed on their first outings.

The top eight men then made the annual trek down to Marion to face the always powerful Tabor team. Unfortunately, they were unable to break the four year losing streak against this powerhouse. This year's match was much closer than usual, however, for the final score was a razor thin six and a half to five and a half.

Yachting

Although plagued by less than desirable weather throughout the season's first few weeks, the yachting team managed to successfully prepare itself for a successful season. With the help of coaches Burt and Wilson and daily visits to M.I.T.'s boat house, the team slowly began to regain much of the quality of last year's squad. Thus, as the team approached its first match, with Andover, its members felt secure in their ability to cruise through a winning season.

The sailors steamed through their first three races against Andover, Boston Latin, and Milton as a result of spectacular performances by Chris Cheney, Kevin Plunkett, and Rick Myers. To the surprise of none, team captain, Bruce Riley, quickly established himself as the squad's premier member. From the season's start to its finish Riley's inexhaustible efforts and talents proved him to be the team's principle claim to fame.

The momentum of the sailors was suddenly lost, however, following two devastating defeats by a superb Tabor team and a third shut-out imposed by the Hingham squad. However, if the Hillies had been unable to leave these meets with victories, they were able to come away with a little more experience and eagerness to win. Both of the following races against Milton and Brookline left the Belmont yachting crew victorious and confident that the season could wind up most satisfactorily.

However, disaster struck again in the form of St. Georges and Wellesley. Both squads proved themselves superior to Belmont in contests which, although lost, left the Belmont men with the impression that they had done their best. Happily, though, the team was able to overcome Brookline, Hingham, and Boston Latin, thus ending their season with a 9-6 record and a second place in the state championship. Accordingly, the entire crew and coaching staff may comfortably furl their sails for another season, secure that they have completed their season in the fine tradition established by former yachting crews.

Obviously, the members of a team are the essence of what that team's potential is to be, and this year's team had as much potential as any other in the league. Captained by Bruce "the master" Riley, the team's main drive came from Rob Webb, Chris Cheney, and Jim Salzman, all returning seniors who brought experience to the team. The backbone of the team was provided by Juniors Ed Mills, Rick Myers, Paul Videnheimer, captain-elect, Rob Ricciardelli and Sophomores Scott Murray and Kevin Plunkett.

And so, this year's yachting team has finished its season in a winning style confident that next year's team will be fully capable in matching the laurels of this team with victories of their own. Finally, the team would like to recognize the fact that their success was only the product of hours of practice, overseen by Coaches Burt and Wilson.

Front Row: Khoury, Pearlstein, Hallagan. Back Row: Reister, Sughrue, Healey, Howe, Maniscalco, Mahoney, Myers, Cross

At the end of last season Mr. Myers, in an article in The Boston Globe, stated that this team, 1980-81 varsity tennis, would be just an average team. The members of the squad disagreed and proved Coach Myers wrong. The team compiled an 11-3 record overall and 10-2 league record, hardly an average year.

After 3 consecutive victories over M.I.T.

freshmen, Tabor and Middlesex two of which were road victories appeared that this underestimated team composed of one senior, two juniors, one sophomore, and two freshmen, could once again compete for league championship. The coach accustomed to winning (9 out of ten years), expressed a bit more optimism during the early season. Then came the first setback a tough loss at St. Pauls (11-7). Strong winds and slow, spongy red clay provided an edge for the home team. The Hilles trailed after the singles and needed 5 of 6 doubles to win. The team could only muster 2 out of 6 sets. In the next four matches Myers Madmen demolished St. Georges, St. Marks, Nobles and Brooks losing only 4 sets.

Captain Mark Pearlstein dominated his opponents in these four matches as did freshman prodigy, Amin Khoury and junior David Riester. Senior Steve Healey rose to mid-season form, showing more confidence and consistency. Warren Cross and Robby Hallagan, numbers five and six, continued to rack up sets in the year. Hard smashes and crisp volleys characterized their consistent play as they fared quite well over the long haul.

David Howe and Steve Sughrue rounded out the squad that Mr. Myers kept finely tuned and well disciplined all year. The only other loss of the season following the Brooks match, were 8-1 to Exter and 14-4 to Milton. Both of these teams were better and deserved to win. Convincing victories over Rivers, Groton, BBN and GDA concluded the year, another excellent year for Belmont Hill in a rebuilding year. Only one spot will be open next year as Steve Healey graduates. Trademarks of this team were high spirits, unity and gutsy play. They may go far. Good Luck next year.

1st row: Hampers, Sandler, Kaneb, Banker, Long, 2nd row: Kraft, Green, Ramaswamy, Clark, Cheney, Cunliffe, Harper, Coach deForest

Although the 1981 Belmont Hill JV tennis team was slightly lacking in its winning capabilities, we had the best spirit. Our best match was against St. Marks which was rained out. Our most impressive match was against Groton in which the Hilles showed the strength by defeating Groton 12-6. Under the calm cool and collected captain John Kraft, the team went on the rampage to a 5-7 record for the spring.

The team was comprised of P.D. Kaneb, David Long, John Kraft, Danny Green, George Harper, Bobby Sandler, Whit Cunliffe, Adam Banker, Lou Hampers, S. Ramaswamy, and Steve Cheren. It was lead by coach DeForest.

With only two players remaining on the Varsity tennis team from the year before, many potential JV players were lost to fill the gap. Other players were lost to various other spring sports. Our best win of the year was against Nobles.

There, we won with a score of 14-4 and came home with a victory. Our first match was an extremely close one. It was a home game against Tabor. Although we fought hard, we lost with a score of 8-10. Unfortunately our season began with a loss instead of a win.

Our second to last game turned out to be the closest of them all. We played BB&N at their home court. Our set score 7-7 indicated that we were tied; however, under league rules when a tie is received there is additional play. The decision went to BB&N with a score of 53-55.

Only one senior will be leaving the varsity team this year. Therefore, we look ahead for next year with veteran players. Perhaps next year we will be able to average our losses.

Varsity Track

The 1981 spring track campaign was undoubtedly one of the more successful in the school's history. Led by a handful of seniors and backed by some surprising juniors, the squad had a 4-4 record that could have been 7-1 with some luck.

Co-captains Andy Card and Kevin Golden (team MVP) took a small yet hungry group of athletes to Milton for the first meet. Mediocre performances prevailed and the result was a narrow defeat. Immediately Coach Stewart noted the team's "Achilles Heel"; the jumping events lacked severely due to injuries.

The Exeter Relays showcased the squad's strongest area, the middle-long distance running races. Card, Martin Sorger, Mike Brown, and Phil Minervino romped to Belmont's only victory of the day in the distance medley. The four by mile relay of Minervino, Brown, Jim Umlas, and Peter Okurowski posted one of the best times of the year for a Massachusetts high school.

Home with Thayer the following Wednesday, the meet came down to the last race, the mile relay. A valiant effort by the Hill came up short and the visitors won, taking the meet 73-71. 0-2 on the season, the team picked up tempo.

Three key injuries had hurt BHS. Jumper Trip Tobin and sprinter Than Tran fell by the wayside early. 1980 standout Georges Salaun, a masterful sprinter, sat out the year recovering from an operation.

On a rainy and cold Saturday the squad grabbed its first victory. Seniors Paul Carrol, Golden, Minervino, and Sorger all scored big points against a worthy St. George's. Carrol, an unheralded weightman at the outset of the season, proved to be a valuable member. On several occasions he flirted with the school javelin record.

Andover proved to be the laughter of the year as the Hillies could have broken the hundred point barrier but substituted freely to save the host school embaessment.

At Belmont High, things weren't so good. The public school kids solidly whomped their prep counterparts, handing them their only major defeat of the year 88-57.

By the following Wednesday things straightened out and as a pre-championship tune-up, Tabor was conquered. Juniors Luc Yeransian and Paul Udris were versatile, each scoring in several events.

Suffield, Connecticut was the sight of the

New England "B" Championships. Virtually everyone had personal bests and the overall results were better than Belmont had done in several years. Card grabbed a third in the eight-hundred meter setting a new school record of 2:02. Golden and Minervino turned in fine doubles. Each got two fourths; Golden in the shotput and discus and Minervino in the fifteen-hundred and three-thousand meter races. Sorger (four-hundred meter) and Carrol (javelin) took fifths as did Brown, the only underclassman to place (three-thousand meter.)

Still riding their peak, Belmont beat St. Paul's with two more juniors, hurdler Brew King and vaulter Frank Muggia showing their expertise. The Governor Dummer meet caught the Hillies physically drained and without several key performers. The day was one of the more exciting but unfortunately a loss all the same. The fabulous seniors Card, Carrol, Golden, Minervino, and Sorger had turned in their last efforts for Belmont Hill.

A Final Thank You

The 1981 Yearbook, if we may speculate, came out right on schedule for the first time in several years. Needless to say, the task has not been an easy one; however, with the support of a great number of people, we managed to alter tradition this year, hopefully setting a new standard for future years. Because we were unable to recognize the entire group of Yearbook workers on the masthead, we would like to thank them now:
